MacDonald blasted for meeting antics

By AMANDA GELDHOF

WILMINGTON - While the discussion surrounding the Town Manager position was a hot topic at the Board of Selectmen meeting on Monday, it also provided a forum for debate over the public comments at previous meetings.

Resident and Board of Selectmen candidate Kevin MacDonald regularly attends various board and committee meetings. MacDonald has a history of feuding with board and committee members at meetings and has been escorted out on some occasions.

Resident Dan Veerman said he feels offended that a single person monopolizes the public comments at every meeting taking away others' right to speak.

"I think that it's a disgrace what you guys [the Board of Selectmen] have been forced to undergo. I haven't gotten along with everyone on this board but that is irrelevant to what I am discussing now. As a board, as a town, we deserve more respect than what is shown in this room. I am offended by it," Veerman said.

Michael Bodnar opposed Veerman's statement saying that MacDonald, like everyone else, should have the right to speak at the meetings.

"There's a lot of things that Mr. MacDonald says that I'm not fond of, but he should be allowed to speak like everyone else," Bodnar said. "We shouldn't single out and blame Mr. MacDonald for keeping the Town Meeting for 10 hours. This is our only venue to express ourselves."

Resident Mary Ann Donovan said, "Most of the community, I would say, feels that this board does a 168-unit affordable housing project slated for 1042 Main St.

By PATRICK BLAIS

WOBURN - The likely new developers of the Woburn Heights affordable housing project recently unveiled a revised proposal with lower profile buildings, full pedestrian access ways to Main Street, and at-grade parking.

During a two-plus hour show-and-tell session before the city's Zoning Board of Appeals (ZBA) late last week, local developer The Dolben Company, of Presidential Way, had a slew of third-party consultants address everything from traffic and drainage to blasting and landscaping at the nine-acre site in North Woburn near the Wilmington town line.

The ZBA ultimately continued the public hearing until its April 18 meeting.

Now being labeled as The Ledges at Woburn, the 168-unit housing project, which would slate about 25 percent of those apartments for so-called "affordable" income-restricted renters, is planned for 1042 Main Street near the Wilmington line.

Under the state's Chapter 40B or affordable housing regulations, local developers can skirt local zoning ordinances and other local bylaws, if they agree to include affordability component for 25 percent of a project.

Cities and towns are essentially powerless to block those

Hull for Town Manager?

Selectmen laud Assistant Town Manager to fill Caira's shoes

By AMANDA GELDHOF

WILMINGTON - With Town Manager Michael Caira's retirement date quickly approaching, Assistant Town Manager Jeff Hull is already the top candidate for Caira's replacement. The Board of Selectmen showed full support to promote Hull at the Selectmen meeting on Monday night.

Hull has been Assistant Town Manager for 25 years, three years longer than Caira's tenure as Town Manager. Caira announced his retirement date of September 30 at a previous Board of Selectmen meeting.

"I feel that we can count on Mr. Hull," Selectman Michael Champoux said. "That he can continue to operate in a consistent manner in a way that has been so successful."

Although Wilmington Veteran's Agent and Chairman of the Board Louis Cimaglia abstained from taking part in the discussion, the remaining four selectmen shared similar sentiments regarding Hull's abilities as a future

School candidates take on the issues

By AMANDA GELDHOF

WILMINGTON - Candidates for the two open seats on the School Committee have weighed in on some important issues facing our public schools. For clarity's sake we will, again, use a Q&A format for the story. Candidates' answers will appear in alphabetical order by last name.

Mary Jane [MJ] Byrnes has not run for School Committee before, but she is an active board member of the Special Education Parent Advisory Council. She sat on the School Advisory Council for four years, is a previous member of the local League of Women Voters and has been Co-Chair of the Wildwood School Parent Advisory Council.

Incumbent Mario Marchese was first elected to School Committee in 2009 after serving on the Conservation Commission. He previously challenged Representative Miceli in 2010. Marchese has two children in Wilmington schools.

Manny Mulas, a resident of Wilmington for 12 years, ran for the School Committee in 2011 and took third place in the election losing the seat to incumbent Leslee Quick. He is a graduate of North Adams State College, now Massachusetts College of Liberal Arts. He also has two children currently in the Wilmington schools.

Mulas was unavailable for comment.

With the building of the new high school, what changes, if any would you like to see in the curriculum for both middle and high school students?

Byrnes: As I continue to familiarize myself with the middle school and high school curriculums, some of what I would like to see occur, with the introduction of the technology piece, is an enhancement of the current curriculum, expanding the accessibility of student's knowledge of

Our original Easter Bunny

By LARZ F. NEILSON

WILMINGTON - If you were going to select the Good Guy, you probably couldn't find a better recipient than the Easter Bunny, unless it was Santa Claus. Well, that's what the Good Guy committee did in 1977. The Good Guys were Santa Claus and the Easter Bunny.

Santa, of course, was Larry Noel. Santa couldn't have a better name than that.

And the Easter Bunny always shared many characteristics with Jo O'Neil. A petite woman with a crackly voice, she filled many roles in Wilmington. But her favorite one was being the Easter Bunny at the Easter egg hunt, held by the Wilmington Recreation Dept. She would be there in costume, the star of the day, with a basket of jellybeans to share with the kids.

Jo grew up at Friends' Farm on Ballardvale Street, one of four daughters of Bill and Margaret Rodden. Bill was the farm superintendent for the Friend brothers. The Friends had a chain of 48 bakery stores and two beaneries. Ever hear of Friends' baked beans?

Friends' Farm in North Wilmington was primarily a pig farm, producing the pork for the baked beans. As part of his work routine, Rodden would cut trees to clear a field. Then Lester Friend would come up and dynamite the stumps, mostly as a recreational activity. Over a period of several years, they cleared a large field. In the field, they built a brick silo with the Friends' logo on it. Brick, actually was a poor choice of materials for a silo, but being next to the railroad tracks, the silo was a great billboard.

Every day, a wagon would come to the farm with stale bakery products for the pigs. One young man driving that wagon was Maurice O'Neil, nicknamed "Dice."

Dice O'Neil married Jo Rodden, and they settled on High Street, in a house built by Johnny Cook, who had married Jo's sister Peg. Cooke was the town assessor, and he bought up quite a bit of land. Dice was on the Fire Department, and was a car salesman at Gildart Chevrolet. Later, he was the clerk at the Water Department.

Dice and Jo had no children of their own, but there were plenty of nieces and nephews to mow the lawn, shovel snow and eat cookies.

the world and technology around them, and the creation of new forums of discussion, not limited to just the classroom. Continuing to introduce new technology to our students will allow them to be competitive in a fast paced technological society that is ever changing, and will offer them more diversity in how they see, think, and respond within their world.

Marchese: The faculty and administration have already begun this long and complicated process of updating the High School curriculum based on the new building design. I would say that incorporating more technology and project based learning in the classroom would be at the top of my wish list for the new High School and Middle School in the very near future.

How would you like to see teachers in the middle school use the proposed wireless network to teach/interact with students?

Byrnes: This technology will be fantastic in allowing teachers to expand upon what they are already teaching in the classrooms, giving them another data driven and useful tool to assess students' ability in learning retention. It will allow teachers the ability to reach out to those students who are either out sick or may not be able to attend school regularly, due to chronic health issues, in keeping up with the lessons and discussions of the classroom at their own pace.

On the "down side", I feel certain restrictions to certain websites do need to be in place and actively monitored. I also feel that although this offers the students and teachers a new opportunity to communicate and learn, it should not replace open discussions within the classroom, nor the need for students to interact with each other. Social skills are an integral part of development that ideally should continue to be practiced regularly.

In developing what this technology piece will actually look like in the classroom and how it will be used, I feel effective communication between the teachers and administration is necessary. I feel it is imperative that workshops are available for staff, and ongoing support be available as problems or questions arise.

Marchese: At the High School we have implemented a new electronic device policy that allows the students to use smart phones, iPads, iPods, laptops, tablets and other electronic devices within the classroom, and with teachers' permission, in a responsible way that allows them to gain access to information and interact with each other in new exciting ways. I foresee the wireless network at the Middle School allowing teachers to step away from the desk and better interact with students using a portable device such as a tablet to assist them with their instruction.

The one and only downside with allowing electronic devices is the possibility of inequality amongst the students, such as some students may have newer and quicker devices to the other end of the spectrum that some students may not have any electronic device at all. The faculty at the High School has done a fantastic job using new technology in the classroom and has made great use of the many portable laptops to ensure that every student is able to participate. At some point, if the funds become available, I would like to see the district purchase something similar to an iPad or tablet for every student at the High School level, similar to what has been implemented in Burlington and in the process of implementation in Tewksbury. By doing so we could eliminate the process of buying textbooks that become outdated the day they are printed, allowing students access to the most recent information available.

The Wilmington Schools has a professional development program for our faculty called "Wilmington University" at which our teachers can receive professional development training at no cost and more often than not in classes taught by their own peers. This would be the best opportunity for our administrators and faculty to collaborate and learn how to better prepare and use the new technology in the best possible manner.

Do you believe that the new turf field at the high school poses ANY threats or danger to the surrounding wetland environment?

Byrnes: At this point, I have no reason to think the proposed turf field poses any threat or danger to the existing wetlands, or the students, who may use it. And, I am confident that the Town has been diligent in ensuring our wetlands are and will be protected in the building of this field and of the new High School. As untimely as I feel this appeal is to the start of this project, I do find it equally important that democracy run it's course, and satisfies those concerns that have been addressed once and for all.

Marchese: I have not seen the actual construction drawings for the turf field, and to comment based on little or no information would be irresponsible. But I will say that I have served on the Conservation Commission in the past with many of the same commissioners that are serving today. I can say without a doubt that they are all very qualified in what they do on a volunteer basis serving on the Conservation Commission. I have no doubt that the plan they approved was based on accurate information provided by the Architect and reviewed by the Town's Conservation Agent. It is my understanding that the DEP site visit last Friday went very well and we can only hope that the project continues on schedule.

Why do you think you are a better candidate for the School Committee than your opponents?

Byrnes: Let me first state that I firmly believe each of us bring different strengths to the table, and we all have the same mission and passion for our students, teachers, our schools, and community. What I feel might set me apart from the other candidates is by my experiences over the years, through my active participation within the various school advisory councils, co-chairing the Wildwood PAC, The SEPAC board, and through my children's time in the district, it's afforded me an opportunity to be in the classroom environment and to see the mechanics of how our children are learning, and the impact the decisions of our school committee has on our students, teachers, parents and administration. I have also learned, and continue to learn a lot by asking questions of parents, teachers, and the administration within our schools, in order to learn more about the processes and the concerns they have. Granted, I do feel there is still so much to know, but I also feel that I have created a 'strong base' of which to step off from.

Marchese: This is always a difficult question when you have multiple candidates that have volunteered so much of their time to helping the school district and I applaud my opponents for their great work. Both of my opponents are well liked and respected in the community, and that is something I cannot and will not take away from them. I will say that the one thing though that they do not have is the three years of tremendous experience and knowledge that I have gained while serving on the Wilmington School Committee. There truly is a learning curve, just as in any new job, serving on the Wilmington School Committee, but I feel that I have surpassed that and I can enter into a second term hitting the ground running.

Are there any other issues that are near and dear to your heart that you would like to mention?

Byrnes: As a Mother of two special needs students, I am a strong advocate in strengthening and actively supporting our Special Education Department, in ensuring this department has the tools it requires to work effectively with students, teachers, parents and administrators. It is also my goal to see that every student, within our district, has the tools and technology they require, in order to reach their fullest potential in our ever-changing world.

Marchese: My biggest issue, as would be with any elected official in town, is the amount of local aid the State gives back to cities and towns for Chapter 70 education funding. With all of the issues surrounding Beacon Hill these days, my greatest concern is that we may lose the level funding Gov. Patrick had promised us in January due to a lack of funding sources and increased costs in healthcare. Our Town Manager, Mr. Cairra, has done a fantastic job of always providing a conservative approach to assisting us in the budget process and the Town has benefitted well from that practice as seen with the over $9 million dollars in unrestricted funds the Town now has in the bank. But sometimes no matter how well you prepare there is always a possibility that the State may throw us a curve ball and dramatically cut local aid to a level unsustainable by the town, which may lead to a reduction in services. Let's just hope that day never comes.

wonderful representation of the business of this Town. What you have had to go through over the past months, nobody would expect anyone to have to go through. It is not an accurate reflection of this town and it needs to stop."

Newhouse said it is a delicate balance to allow one person's freedom of speech without impeding on another's rights.

"On every issue, it's always difficult to err on the side of giving people the opportunity to be heard without abusing everybody else's right to be heard," Newhouse said. "I have tried to err on the side of giving people the right to be heard on this issue."

Selectman McCoy said it is a shame that police have to attend every meeting because of MacDonald.

"In all my 22 years we never have to have police presence at meeting after meeting because of Mr. MacDonald. That is the only reason this individual is here," McCoy said. "It's just really sad and pathetic this is what it has come down to. People really need to understand what we go through, and we do a lot of good in this community."

Bill Klindt attended the meeting to help his son obtain a merit badge.

"I have no affiliation to anybody here, and I can't say anything but I agree with this gentleman [Veerman] who I have never met in my life, fully and whole heartedly," he said. "You [MacDonald] have ransacked this meeting and my son is going to go to bed very late because you have extended this meeting. You guys [Board of Selectmen], thank you for the work you do. I really appreciate it, and I'm sorry you have to do this all of the time."

Selectwoman Judith O'Connell supported the public's right to speak at the Board of Selectmen meetings and said she would like to see more public involvement.

"I appreciate all of the public involvement in all of the conversations," O'Connell said. "Certainly any resident or member of the town of Wilmington has the right to speak regardless of where they fall on a particular topic."

Jo's sister Dorothy married Phil Park, and they had a very large family.

"For part of my childhood, I lived with my Park grandparents on Woburn Street. I stayed there (near the Woburn Street School) for four years and would walk down High Street to the Whitefield School," wrote Ruth Park Fuss. "Auntie Jo's was on my way, and often if I saw her on the porch, I would stop by to say hello. If I had a problem to talk over with her, she would always listen. She would invite me in and then present me with cookies and milk for a snack. Then we would chat for a while. She would always have an explanation of why things happened in life. She had that special knack which always made me feel happier and of course she had that great laugh and great smile. Some days while I was there Uncle Dice would come home from work and we would have a three-way conversation. It was a very special place for me. Oh course her little dog would enjoy the company too. Was his name Buster?"

"Then when I returned home to live on Ballardvale Street. When there would be a big snowstorm, my brothers and I would trounce through the snow to Jo's house to shovel her out. Then she would send us down to Gladys Stack's house to shovel her out. These were big storms and our winter clothes might get soaking wet. After the shoveling was done, we would go back to Auntie Jo's where she would offer us a bath to warm up and she would dry our clothes. Of course, she would always have something hot for us to eat, and most of all that delicious Graham cracker cake. Oh how I loved that cake!"

Jo was always community minded. She co-chaired the town blood committee. Because of her efforts, the Red Cross guaranteed blood availability for any Wilmington resident. She was an early supporter of the Horribles Parade, intended to keep kids safe on Halloween.

Her mother, Margaret McCord Rodden, had been a nurse at Lowell General Hospital. After moving to Wilmington, she was always struck by the lack of a nearby hospital, quite ironic considering that Boston was not that far away. But for Wilmington residents, the nearest facility was either in Lowell or Woburn. Mrs. Rodden's dream lived on with Jo, who became an early backer of a hospital being built in Wilmington. She put together fund-raisers and worked with Lil Woodside for a local hospital. That effort went on for a long time, and eventually brought about the facility in North Wilmington that is now the Winchester Hospital Family Medical Center. Josephine O'Neil died on Feb. 12, 1983.

ALIMONY RULES

No matter how divorcing couples split up their assets, they need to follow government rules regarding who pays what to whom and how it is taxed. Generally, the person who pays alimony deducts the amount from income; the spouse who gets it is taxed on the money.

To qualify as alimony, the payments must be in cash or to the benefit of the spouse or former spouse. The payments must be made pursuant to a decree of divorce or separate maintenance; that decree may not say that the payments are not alimony. The spouses may not be members of the same household when payments are made.

More: there shall be no liability to make these payments after the death of the spouse or former spouse, and the payments may not be treated as child support or a property settlement.

Dividing property pursuant in divorce planning, it's advisable to consider the after-tax value of the asset. A salable home, for instance, may be worth more than interest in a retirement account.

Divorce almost always has financial ramifications. Consider them with the money people at Hearing loss and diabetes linked

Over 32 million Americans have a hearing loss. Hearing loss can be caused by any number of factors. The most common factor is hereditary. Hearing loss can be inherited; just like blue eyes and brown hair are inherited. Other factors that can cause hearing loss are noise exposure, chemotherapy and other cancer drugs, disease, and medications.

One disease that affects over 24 million Americans is diabetes. Diabetes can also be genetic. However, with medication, proper diet and exercise it can be controlled. However, one side effect of diabetes is hearing loss. Studies have shown that diabetics have hearing loss at twice the rate as non-diabetics. Hearing loss may not be easily detected without a complete audiological evaluation. Most people have some hearing but may miss parts of conversations. Family members usually are the first to notice when a loved one is not hearing properly.

Insurance companies as well as physicians insist that diabetics have an annual eye exam, and foot examination. Physicians also monitor their patients' glucose levels.

However, most do not insist that diabetics have an annual hearing test. Many physicians are unaware of the link between hearing loss and diabetes. Hearing loss can be gradual so the person is not always aware that they have lost some hearing ability.

It is believed by researchers from the National Institute of Health that high blood glucose levels can damage the small hair cells in the inner ear. In the inner ear or cochlea, there are tiny hair cells that transfer the sound waves into an electrical signal and transmit the signal to the brain. When the hair cells are missing or damaged, hearing loss occurs. Unfortunately, once the hair cells are damaged or missing, they do not regenerate. However, hearing aids can help the person hear better if a hearing loss is determined.

For more information, go to the American Diabetes Association website and search hearing loss. (www.diabetes.org). Other websites that have information on diabetes and hearing loss are the Better Hearing Institute website (www.betterhearing.org/), the American Speech Language and Hearing Association (www.asha.org), and the American Academy of Audiology (www.audiology.org). On these last three websites search diabetes to find the articles and research information.

Support for Mulas

Dear Editor,
I'm writing to ask my fellow Wilmington voters to join me in voting for Manny Mulas for Wilmington School Committee on Saturday, April 28th.

Manny has been a strong supporter of commonsense initiatives and reforms that benefit Wilmington students. Manny is a tireless advocate for our kids and schools, and has the courage and determination to make difficult decisions in the best interest of students, parents and taxpayers. Manny is honest, outspoken, and a man of his word.

I got the chance to work with Manny directly and see him in action during my time as a member of the Wilmington High School 4.0 Campaign Committee. As anyone who knows Manny can attest, he isn't afraid to make waves or challenge the status quo.

We need a no-nonsense reformer like Manny on the Committee - now more than ever. Local elections are essential to our daily life — providing candidates who are willing to answer questions immediate to us: what is a 21st Century Education, how and why should I care about MCAS Scores in our Town, why don't we have more after school programs for our younger students? I trust Manny to continue to bring two priorities to the table: excellence for our students and awareness of the huge investment that we the taxpayers make in our schools.

You can learn more about Manny and his priorities by listening to the debate on Tuesday night, April 10th on WCTV, or by joining his Facebook group, "Manny Mulas for Wilmington School Committee 2012." Please join me in voting to elect Manny Mulas to the Wilmington School Committee on Saturday, April 28th.

Thank you

A vote for "Coach Scott"

Editor:

I submit this to you not only as an endorsement, but also a testament to the qualifications of Mr. Scott Wilson for Tewksbury Selectmen. I was introduced to Mr. Wilson five years ago at a coaches meeting for Tewksbury Youth Baseball. Over the course of that first season, I witnessed a tireless coach who not only instructed young men on the fundamentals of baseball, but impressed upon them the importance of citizenship, education, manners, and sportsmanship in all aspects of life, on and off the baseball field. Mr. Wilson, as "Coach Scott", has volunteered his coaching leadership in instructing hundreds of our youth over the years. The product of his efforts will continue to improve the future of Tewksbury for many years to come.

During my tenure as a member of the Special Act Charter Committee, Mr. Wilson was inserted as Chairman of the committee two years after the initial appointment. When he arrived, the committee was fully committed to recommending a change in our current form of government. The Board of Selectmen had decided that a change of leadership was necessary to help foster a more stable environment in the controversial proposal that the committee was preparing. The offer to chair the committee was presented to another selectman who had voiced his opposition to the direction of the committee and he declined because it was too controversial in an election year. When the offer was made to Mr. Wilson, he readily accepted the challenge. Since his arrival, he has worked extra hours to educate himself in gaining the knowledge necessary to effectively lead the committee; he has created transparency into the inner workings of the committee, and actively solicited input from the public members who have attended the meetings.

As a member of the committee, I saw firsthand the civic passion that he possesses, his willingness to listen to opposing ideas, and the ability to incorporate new ideas while refining his vision for the best way to lead Tewksbury. Mr. Wilson has proven through his actions that he is not afraid of controversy, nor does he neglect his responsibilities when making unpopular decisions. He is a man who has integrity, sound judgment, and humbleness. He performs his duties with a smile that disarms his adversaries and brings a comforting sense of confidence to his friends.

I would much prefer to stand beside a man who has fought and lost...than next to a man who has never fought at all. Scott Wilson is that man who fights for what he believes. Scott Wilson not only has my vote, he has my respect and admiration. How many of us can say that about our elected representatives?

A teacher endorses Wilson

Dear Editor,

It is with great pleasure that I endorse Scott Wilson for re-election to the Board of Selectmen. Scott has been a positive presence in the Tewksbury community for as long as I have known him. I first met Scott while teaching at the Trahan Elementary School a few years back.

Although I did not have the pleasure of teaching Scott's sons Tyler and Colby, I did get to know Scott as a parent and a friend to the Tewksbury Public Schools. Scott's sons are a tribute to the type of parent and leader he is as they are honor students, athletic and most of all good boys and role models to their peers. I got to see Scott transition from a concerned parent and interested community member to a community leader when he was first elected to the Board of Selectmen. Scott shared with me a vision that he has for Tewksbury. Scott and I share a similar vision for Tewksbury and we both love this town and want it to continue to be a wonderful place to raise a family.

Scott has made it his mission to work with both seasoned and new leaders in our community to keep Tewksbury moving in the right direction. It takes a strong leader to be able to state what is right and fair for the majority of residents and stand by decisions that are not always favored by some.

In addition, Scott Wilson has been the head coach for my son's travel basketball team for the past two years. My family and I have been so impressed at how he took a young boy who is shy and laid back to a young man who has learned the value of teamwork. Scott's dedication to the team and his support of the players has given me a new appreciation for his leadership skills. My son has learned a great deal in the positive environment that Scott has created for his team.

Scott believes in community and working together for a good cause whether it is for the betterment of the town, schools, or sports.

Respectfully,
Kathy Carleton

A vote for Champoux

Dear Wilmington Voters:

When I first met Mike Champoux a few years ago, I assumed I was meeting another "local politician". I was surprised and struck during this meeting at Mike's quick wit and humor as well as his obvious love for his family and community. Since then, I have come to know Mike better and am still amazed at his dedication to his family and community. He doesn't just talk the talk, he truly walks the walk.

During the new high school voting process in the fall, Mike was a vocal supporter of the project and often times provided facts, research and common sense to an arena that seemed to be filled with conjecture, speculation and innuendo. One of the many things I respect about Mike is his ability to maintain a calm professionalism in the midst of irrational chaos. This level head has served him well as Selectman and will continue to benefit all of Wilmington in the years to come.

We are truly lucky in Wilmington that have such a well run town and now is the time to make sure we continue to choose individuals who love and respect our town and want what is best for its residents. That person is clearly Mike Champoux.

With all of that being said, I ask all voters of Wilmington to vote for Mike Champoux on April 28th for Selectmen.

Although I am writing this as an individual, I cannot ignore my roles as President of both the Wilmington Educational Foundation and Women of Wilmington. As the President, I have the pleasure of seeing firsthand how wonderful our town is, and also to realize the importance of having continued community support to maintain our town's reputation as one of the finest. Mike has been a part of building that reputation and I strongly believe he is needed to continue in its success.

I would invite anyone wishing to meet Mike and talk with him further to a meet and greet at my office (O'Mahony & Ardito, Presidential Park, 314 Main Street, Unit 105, Wilmington) from 4-6 PM on Thursday, April 5th.

Sincerely,
Jomarie O'Mahony

Vote for "first-class" project

Dear Editor:

I am writing to encourage support for the new and improved athletic fields at Tewksbury Memorial High School. As everyone knows, the new school is a major upgrade to our school system and to our Town. The new facility has been needed for many years, and I am proud to say that I voted for it.

When I voted for the new school I expected it would be a complete facility - inside and out. I assumed athletic fields would be included, especially a new track which was torn up to begin construction adjacent to the existing school. I was told that the campus would include many fields, and tennis courts, which would allow the students to practice after school without traveling from Pleasant Street to Livingston Street. Our teams would also be able to host competitions - adjacent to their school - and enjoy that important "home field" advantage!

We all want proud, first-class students. We all want to maximize their opportunities. We have an opportunity to vote for a first-class project on Saturday, April 14th. Please join me in voting YES.

A vote for "MJ" Byrnes

Dear Wilmington Residents,

I am writing today to express my support and admiration for MJ Byrnes, who is running for one of the two open seats on the School Committee. Although a novice at politics, MJ has a thorough understanding of the workings of the Wilmington school department. As a mother of two children with special needs, MJ possesses the passion and knowledge of what it takes to improve the system to address needs of ALL of the children in Wilmington. MJ will be a champion for parents and students. She is a firm believer in open communication and transparency. MJ will work to ensure that our hard-earned tax dollars are being spent efficiently and effectively so that every student in the district receives the instruction and technology to reach his or her highest potential. I believe that a vote for Mary Jane is a vote for our children and our schools.

Sincerely,
Diane Lovine

Student supports complex

Dear Editor,

I am a senior at Tewksbury Memorial High School, a registered voter, and a member of the 2012 TMHS Girls Track team. I am writing in support of ballot question 1.

I am excited for the students of Tewksbury who will be entering a new high school in September. Unfortunately, I will not be able to experience the new high school or new track as I will be graduating this spring.

For the last two years, the TMHS track team has not had a home. We have been entirely on the road, meaning we have been practicing and hosting our home meets on our competition's track and utilizing their all-purpose field.

Each day of practice, the competition has been able to evaluate our team. We end practice early so our host may practice. It's been a grind, traveling to practice day in and day out and creates long days for our team.

However, it has been wonderful being able to utilize an all-purpose track and field for stretching, warm-up drills, and strength workouts; a vital piece of track and field training.

If Question 1 does not pass now, an all-purpose field will eventually be installed in the future, forcing the track team of that year to experience the same inconvenience I experienced the last two years during the construction of the new Tewksbury high school.

Let's finish the high school project. Please support the students of Tewksbury and vote YES on ballot question 1 on April 14th.

Vote for tennis and turf

Dear Editor,

A few years ago, Tewksbury taxpayers approved an $80 million project to build a new high school. As the high school nears completion, the project has come in under budget at only $68 million. Tewksbury's cost is $6 million under budget. Now, on April 14th a vote will be held to determine if the town of Tewksbury is willing to pay a little more money to build an exemplary Tewksbury High School Athletic Complex. The improvement to the current plan will cost each household at most only $20 per year for only 10 years. That is a maximum of $200 over the next decade on a project that will then still come in $10 million dollars under budget. Most importantly, a "yes" vote on Question 1 will mean priceless improvements to the town's facilities and residents, and a commitment to promoting an overall healthy, active, and thriving community.

The improved Tewksbury High School Athletic Complex includes an artificial turf field which offers increased playing time with less maintenance as well as a consistent playing surface to cut down on injuries. An artificial surface does not need to be watered, have lines regularly painted on it, or mowed. The proposed complex also triples the seating capacity from 500 to 1,500 and adds lighting and a scoreboard. As the beautiful new high school is being finished, let's not leave out lights and a scoreboard for our sports teams.

Closest to my heart are the five proposed tennis courts that the improved Athletic Complex will include. Currently, the high school tennis team has to take a bus to Livingston Street Park every day to practice and play their matches. With only three courts, the entire boys tennis program has been cut for the past decade. Nevertheless there are boys who want to play, and the girls team has included boys for about seven years now. The boys can practice with the team, but they are not allowed to play any "real" matches. I saw the constant struggle the team is faced with first-hand playing varsity tennis for Tewksbury High for four years from 2001-2005. The entire arrangement is chaotic, and while everyone is trying their best to make it work, we now have the chance to build five new, lit courts on-site at the high school and give the girls a chance to compete with their division and even give the boys a chance to have their own team.

Tennis is a lifelong sport, not just for high school students. At the first annual Friends of Tewksbury Tennis fundraising tournament last summer, members of the Tewksbury community were thrilled to sign up and play. Many asked for more events and tournaments, but this simply cannot be supported on only three courts. Summer tennis camps have been steadily growing each year as more and more kids sign up and come back. From 27 kids in the first summer camp four years ago to 139 last year, the program is undeniably growing. To meet this demand the town needs the proper facilities to offer services to the growing tennis community.

Many local towns have already made the decision to enhance their sports facilities, and therefore their towns. North Reading, Woburn, Haverhill, Lowell and Lawrence have state-of-the-art athletic complexes and Wilmington High School and the Shawheen Regional Technical High School will soon. Tewksbury has this opportunity now, while the construction companies are here and the costs are reasonable, to make the same enhancements.

While the complex will be at the high school, it is not only the 14 high school sports teams using the facility that will benefit. Kids want to play sports. But so do adults and parents and grandparents. This complex allows for improved youth programs and community summer camps as well as adult and senior programs and leagues in a wide variety of sports and activities.

Over the next 10 years we could all go to the movies twice a year and order a popcorn and a soda or we could contribute that same $20 a year to the Athletic Complex. Both cost about $200, but only one of these options supports a community that encourages teamwork, health, and physical fitness. The question up for vote is whether or not Tewksbury should have a great complex for our student athletes and our community to use. I think so. I hope you do too, and I hope you will vote to finish this project off the right way. Please vote Yes on Question 1 on April 14th.

A vote for Gay

Dear Tewksbury Voters,

I would like to take a moment to talk about David Gay. David is running for re-election for Selectman. I am a member of the Tewksbury Green Committee. I have been working over the last couple of years with our Committee to make recommendations to the Board of Selectman that improve our energy usage in all municipal buildings and schools. David has been very receptive to this work and it has translated into sizable savings on our energy bills. Fuel costs, as we all know typically go up, not down. Our leaders, now more than ever have to adopt energy efficient building strategies in all new and existing buildings in Tewksbury. David is a true professional to work with and always has the best interests of our community at heart. Please consider voting for David so that we can continue this important work.

Sincerely,
Jim Duffy

Senior Citizens support complex

Dear Editor:

Regarding the contention and division of opinions on the proposed Athletic Complex for our High School, we would like to present a "Senior Citizens" point of view.

We live in close proximity to the High School and we used to hear the band practicing their drums on summer evenings. We loved listening to them and it actually warmed our hearts to know the band members were using their time in such a positive manner. It never bothered us.

As to the contention, it is disheartening that people forget what it was like to be young and have something to look forward to - people who are willing to impede the advancement of this project which, in our opinion, is tantamount to discouraging progress. We believe the construction of a "State-of-the-Art" Athletic Complex will not only be a genuine source of pride for our town, it will also be a reflection of the commitment of the people of Tewksbury and of the investment we are willing to make for the benefit of our youth.

We have no objection to progress.

Two votes for complex

Dear Editor:

On April 14th the residents of Tewksbury have a chance to improve the quality of life in our community by voting Yes on question one on the ballot. A Yes vote will bring to town meeting a warrant article which will allow the town to build an athletic complex at TMHS which will complement our fabulous new high school that is being built.

The new turf field and tennis courts will put us on an equal footing with virtually every other high school in the Merrimack Valley, as most other schools either already have a turf field, or have one being installed shortly, as well as also having at least 5 tennis courts for their team's use.

The turf field is NOT just for football. More than half the students at THMS compete in at least one sport. Brian Hickey, the Athletic Director at TMHS, has said that 14 teams can make use of the field and courts. He also said that the field and courts will allow for expanded options for gym class. Also, the field and courts will be available for community use when not previously booked for school use. The tennis courts will now give us the opportunity to have a new boy's tennis team, if there is sufficient interest.

Now is the time to install these significant upgrades to our new high school, as it can be done with minimal disruption to existing infrastructure, and some cost savings realized against the original, approved project. Please join us in VOTING YES ON QUESTION ONE on April 14th.

Sincerely,
Bette and Barry Lewin

Dunlevy supports Francis

Dear Editor,

Long before Dennis Francis was elected to the Tewksbury School Committee he was a dedicated advocate for student advancement. He believes that a meaningful, strong, basic educational structure is the stepping stone necessary to enhance an individual's opportunities for a successful future.

His tireless devotion to the students of Tewksbury will continue when you join me and others in voting for the re-election of Dennis Francis to our School Committee on April 14, 2012.

Please invite your friends and neighbors to join you so that together we can keep this forward moving educational train on track.

Sincerely,

Two votes for Champoux

Dear Editor,

We first met Mike Champoux while watching him deliver a humorous speech and thought, "we like him". We had heard many good things about his support of Wilmington, even outside of his role as Selectman. Since then, we've experienced him being a great husband and father, who volunteers his free time to helping our town be a great place and become an even better place.

Wilmington has achieved many accomplishments during Mr. Champoux's term for residents of the town of Wilmington to celebrate. Mike was an active advocate and supporter of Wilmington's efforts through the high school feasibility process. He is an advocate that helped in securing the Yentile property, which will result in a recreational space and playing field, for our families and friends to enjoy.

These are a couple of the many things that Mike has spent his time on while in office.

We look forward to him serving another term to further expand upon those achievements.

Sincerely,
Scott and Lisa Johnson

Support for Mulas

Dear Voters:

I am writing to ask you to vote for my friend, Manny Mulas, for School Committee on April 28th.

My family and Manny's family have been friends for years with our daughters participating in the same activities together. Whether it is coaching or being on the WHS 4.0 Committee to secure a new high school, Manny is always ready to do what is best for not only his own family, but for all of our families.

As a small business owner, I understand the importance of being organized and efficient. Manny is also a small business owner and his ability to manage his business, family life and community involvement is nothing short or impressive.

I have great respect for our current Superintendent and am pleased to know that Manny feels the same and supports her vision of a 21st century education for our children.

If you would like to learn more about Manny and meet him in person, I would invite you to a meet and greet at my office (O'Mahony & Ardito, 314 Main Street, Unit 105, Wilmington) on Thursday, April 5th from 4-6 PM.

Reed is dedicated to town

To the Editor:

What do you look for in your elected Town Official?

We need:

- Someone of strong moral character and integrity who holds themselves to a high standard of professionalism.
- Someone who listens to and feels accountable to the citizens who elected him/her.

- Someone who is always well prepared and researched on any issues to come before him/her.
- Someone who rises to a challenge and follows through to the best of their abilities.

- Someone who is proactive and continually strives for what's best for our Town.

In the many years that I have known her and throughout the two terms she has already served, these attributes describe Nancy Reed perfectly.

As your candidate for re-election to the Planning Board, Nancy is both experienced, and willing to take on the many challenges that lie ahead as the Town struggles to turn the corner in this economy.

Her involvement on numerous town committees further proves her commitment to our community. Whether it is the Economic Development Committee, Zoning Subcommittee, adviser to the Local Housing Partnership, or the Community Preservation Committee which she chairs, Nancy has her finger on the pulse of Tewksbury and her hand in many of the ongoing positive endeavors undertaken by our Town.

Nancy's thoroughness and meticulous attention to details have proven invaluable to her peers and she remains well respected by her colleagues as well as those that come before her boards. Well known for her work ethic and willingness to go above and beyond what is required, in addition to her knowledge and expertise, all underscore her value to our community as a member of the Planning Board.

With an impressive list of accomplishments already to her credit, Nancy is an inspiration who leads by example and is the obvious best choice as your candidate for re-election to the Planning Board so she can continue to see to fruition the many good initiatives that she has started.

Please join me with your vote for Nancy Reed for Tewksbury Planning Board on April 14th! Thank you.

PLEASE RECYCLE

Presentation on texting and driving a big success

BILLERICA – Three seniors at Shawsheen Valley Technical High School, Megan Walsh, Brianna Lynch and Jessi Lloyd, all of Tewksbury, wanted more than just a good score on their final SkillsUSA Career Pathways presentation.

Sure, the girls hope to make an impact on the judges when the project is unveiled at the SkillsUSA competition, later this month, but mostly, the Shawsheen Tech trio wanted to make an impact on their classmates and friends, and save some lives in the process.

On February 27, Walsh, Lynch and Lloyd presented a project on distracted driving, showing a video and designing a pledge form for the junior class to sign that had students promise not to text or talk on the phone while driving their cars.

A survey handed out by the girls revealed that 62 percent of the students surveyed admitted that they have been texting and driving in the past.

Along with signing the pact, the juniors were also given air fresheners-type hangers for the inside of their cars to serve as a reminder of the presentation. The reminders, which were donated by the company Scentisphere, smelled of burnt rubber.

“The students chose burnt rubber as the scent because their movie theme is that if you text and drive, burnt rubber may be the last smell you ever smell,” said Shawsheen Tech instructor Heidi Lloyd.

As is the case with many of the projects done at Shawsheen Tech, several of the school’s vocations chipped in as the pieces were printed at Shawsheen using the scented varnish.

The presentation started with Lynch talking about a scenario where a student gets into an accident while texting.

Walsh then presented some staggering statistics, like 6,000 deaths and about a half-million injuries caused annually from texting and driving. Walsh also reported that 10 percent of the time that people text and drive, they are outside of the lane that they should be driving in.

The school then welcomed Massachusetts state trooper Michael Miscall to its campus and Miscall spoke to Shawsheen’s junior class for more than 20 minutes. He explained some of the terrible accidents he has seen in person that related to distracted driving and spoke in great detail about the families of the people involved in these accidents and what it is like to knock on a door in the middle of the night to deliver tragic news.

Jessi Lloyd finished the presentation by announcing the distribution of the pledge cards and air fresheners.

“I feel that the presentation went really well,” said Lloyd, who will attend Middlesex Community College in the fall. “I think the students were able to come away with some new insights. At the end of the presentation I saw a girl go up to the state trooper and tell him she was afraid to drive with her phone and that she hoped this video would show her friends why.”

“Everyone was paying attention,” said Lynch, who will be attending Quinnipiac University in the fall to study film and media production. “Personally, I hope to be able to leave an impact on the students and even the adults who watched this presentation. We probably saved one or two lives from ending by getting people to think.”

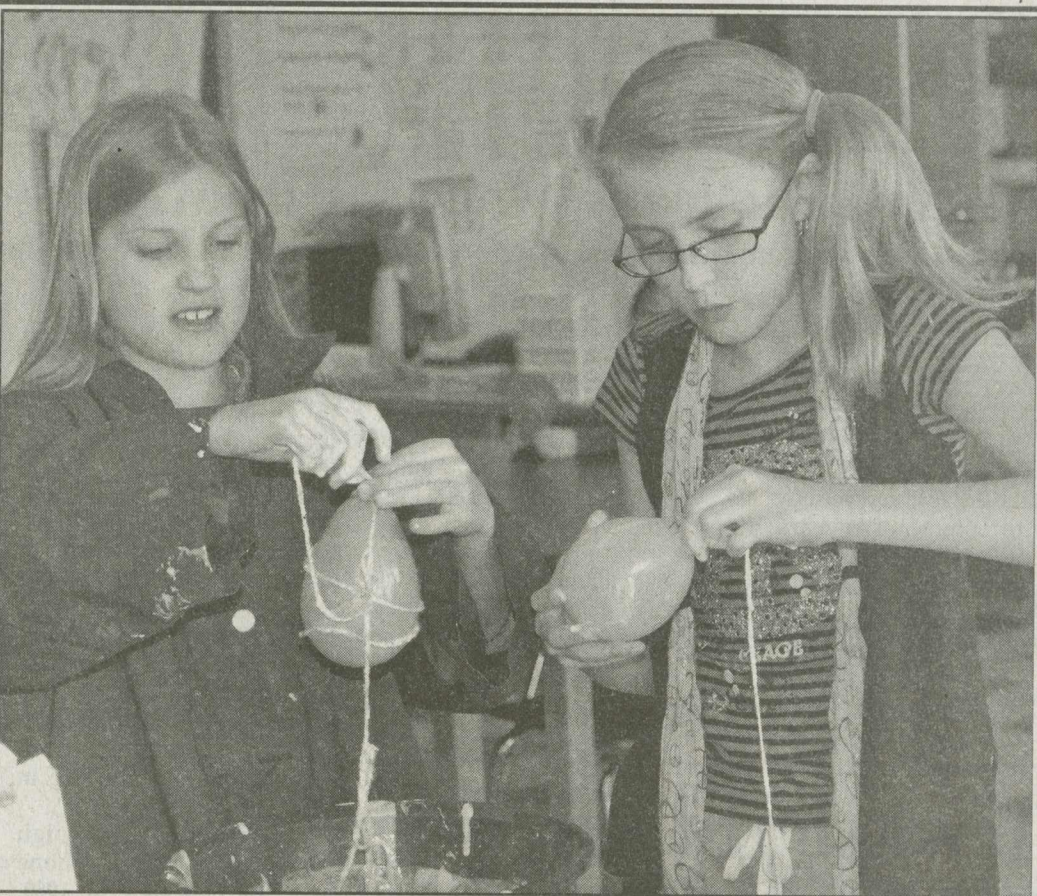

Lynch said simply clicking on the evening news was enough of a motivator to choose distracted driving as the subject of the project. She pointed to a recent bus crash in Kansas that caused several deaths.

“Someone has to take a stand against it,” she said. “Otherwise, it will just keep on happening.”

“Teenagers and even adults don’t realize how dangerous it is to text and drive,” added Walsh, who will attend Salem State University in the fall with a double major of psychology and criminal justice. “I hope that students learned that, especially as new drivers, texting and driving are causing an imminent danger to not only them, but everyone else on the road.”

Heidi Lloyd was pleased following the day’s events and the work of her students.

“They did a great job,” she said. “I’m really proud of them. So far the response has been overwhelming, pledge cards have been coming in steadily. I am hopeful that we have reached more than just a few students and with any luck, saved a few lives.”

“I didn’t want to end up like my mom, with diabetes and heart disease.”

- Noemi Lopez, 2009

Noemi, prior to surgery in 2009

Noemi, after surgery in 2011

At age 32 and 235 pounds, Noemi was obese, like her parents. She didn’t have their health problems – yet – but she worried about the example she was setting for her two young daughters. And whether she’d be around as they grew up.

Noemi underwent gastric bypass surgery in October 2009. She has lost nearly 150 pounds – more than half her body weight. She walks every chance she gets. And proudly wears skinny jeans.

“I’m liking the way I look and feel,” Noemi says. “My girls are going to have me around for a long time.”

OBITUARIES

Preston F. Holman

Marine Corps veteran; avid golfer, skier

WILMINGTON - Preston F. Holman, 70, of Wilmington, MA passed away on March 17, 2012 peacefully surrounded by his loving family. Preston is survived by his wife, Dianne, of 45 years. His children, Peter and his wife Kim of Lunenburg, Heather Doyle and her husband Brian of Billerica, Kimberly of Wilmington and Mark of Wilmington. Beloved Papa to Emily, Sophia, Rachel, Sarah, Lily, Ella and Collin. Also, his sister Patricia Sue and her husband David of Milton and his nieces Jennifer, Lisa, Athena and Nicole and his nephews Joshua and Zackary.

Preston was an avid golfer, skier and target shooter, proud former Marine (1959-1963), graduate of Bentley College and worked for the DCAA for 20 years.

Paul M. Kane

Started Games Away Tours, Inc

WILMINGTON - Paul M. Kane, age 65, of Wilmington, died peacefully at home surrounded by his family on March 27, 2012, following a courageous battle with cancer.

Paul was born in Boston, MA, on September 13, 1946. He was the cherished son of the late Timothy J. and Ruth E. (Feeney) Kane. Paul spent his early years in Somerville and moved to Wilmington at the age of 10 where he continued his education, graduating from Wilmington High School in 1964.

Paul married his high school sweetheart, Jeanne Gage, on February 15, 1969. Paul and Jeanne had a wonderful life together, raised three beautiful children, were doting grandparents, and strong business partners.

Paul was known for his strong work ethic, something he was proud of passing on to his children. He took his passion for sports, especially Boston Sports, and turned it into a wonderful career. Paul, with his wife Jeanne at his side, started Games Away Tours, Inc. located in the heart of Boston in 1982 and were also proprietors of Sea Air Travel, which he retired from in May of 2011.

Paul loved to travel and he was an avid sports fan, so it only made sense to run trips to Super Bowls, Stanley Cup Playoffs, NBA Title Games, Division Title Games, or just regular season games. Paul was very knowledgeable about the teams, players, and owners, he made the trips quite an adventure and everyone had a great time. If anyone could say they "loved" their job it would be Paul. He loved sports and he loved being around people.

Paul also enjoyed his "personal" traveling with his family and friends. He loved spending time in the Lake Winnepesaukee area of NH as a child and as an adult with his own family. He traveled so often to Montreal that his family considered it his "second home" and they think he finally earned his Canadian Citizenship.

Paul loved to eat and really enjoyed "Fine Dining" with his family and friends. He was a "music buff" who loved everything from church music at Arch Street Church in Boston to country music and George Strait to rock and roll concerts, Bruce Springsteen being his all time favorite. He went to over 40 Bruce Springsteen concerts as he expanded his sports tours business into concert tours.

Paul was an active communicant of St. Thomas Church in Wilmington and will be remembered for his strong faith, something that he never gave up on even when his illness got tough.

Paul was a devoted family man and a true friend. He was smart, kind, caring, extremely generous, talented, and fun to be around. He was a natural comedian whose sense of humor was maintained through his final days. He loved to talk to people, tell stories, and make people laugh. He was extremely proud of his family and loved his wife, children, and grandchildren with all his heart. He will truly be missed.

Paul was the beloved husband of Jeanne L. (Gage)

Kane, devoted father of Brian Kane and his wife Michelle, Andrea MacGilvray and her husband Paul, and Jennifer Kane all of Wilmington, loving grandfather of Hayden and Julia Kane, Ashley, Ava, and Thomas MacGilvray, dear brother of the late Dennis T. and Joseph A. Kane, brother-in-law of Roberta Kane of Billerica, Norma Kane of New Mexico, Richard Gage, Robert Gage and the late Marilyn Gage all of Wilmington. Paul was also a loving uncle, cousin, nephew, and dear friend to many.

Family and friends will gather at the Nichols Funeral Home, Inc., 187 Middlesex Ave. (Rte. 62), Wilmington on Saturday, March 31st at 10:00 a.m. followed by a Mass of Christian Burial in St. Thomas of Villanova Church, 126 Middlesex Ave., Wilmington at 11:00 a.m. Interment will follow in Wildwood Cemetery, Wilmington. Visiting hours will be held on Friday, March 30th from 4-8 p.m. Memorial donations in Paul's name may be made to the Prostate Cancer Foundation, 1250 Fourth Street, Santa Monica, CA 90401.

To be brave is to cry
But still to fight on,
and that's what you did
our hero, our son.

The battle was hard
We thought we had won,
But still you fought on
Our hero, our son.

The happiness you brought
To the lives you have touched,
Will live on forever
As you are loved so much.
Happy 50th Birthday
Our hero, our son.

Shawsheen Tech honors February's Top Seniors

Daniel Blake and Stephanie Hart

BILLERICA - Daniel Blake and Stephanie Hart were named the Seniors of the Month for February at Shawsheen Valley Technical High School.

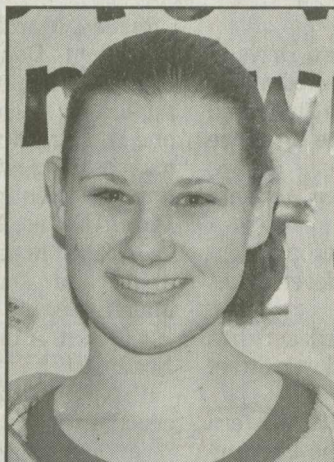

Blake, of Billerica, is one of the top drafting students in the school and plans on turning the skills he learned at Shawsheen into a career.

He hopes to pursue a future as either an architect or an electrical engineer in college.

Blake turned a love of drawing into his passion at Shawsheen. He's ranked in the top 10 of his class academically while being an honor roll student for four straight years and earning a spot on the National Honor Society.

Blake has also received a Citizenship Award in drafting.

Aside from excelling in academics, Blake stays busy playing tennis for the Rams each spring and he has volunteered in several ways, including time at the Tewksbury Public Library and at his local church, where he makes deliveries for the elderly.

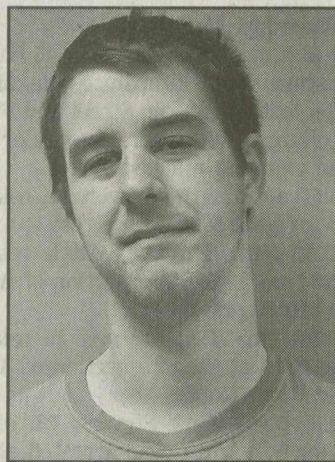

Hart, a Tewksbury resident, might be the busiest student in the hallways of Shawsheen Tech.

Aside from maintaining a top 20 rank academically and registering a 3.87 grade point average, the standout business technology student has several hobbies and interests.

In the athletic world for the Rams, Hart has been a part of the cross country team in the fall, the swim team in the winter and the track and field team in the spring.

She's also an active member of the school's color guard and drum corps.

Hart is an active volunteer, helping out at Winchester Hospital for the past two years and also spending an entire summer volunteering for the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

Academically, Hart's career has been filled with successes.

She has earned Citizenship Awards and Business Professionals Awards while also being on the honor roll and the National Honor Society. Hart is the secretary of NHS.

Hart will be attending college in the fall, where she will major in either accounting or law.

45 years ago E. Hayward Bliss gathered 25 of his friends and formed the Kiwanis Club of Wilmington. Monday evening members of that club celebrated the 45th anniversary of their charter at Rocco's Restaurant as they hosted the Division 11 caucus to elect new leadership in the division. Seated (l to r) Charter member Leo Gittzus, President Elect Dennis McCarthy, Marsha Olsen. Standing are President Chris Lyman, Ken McCowan, Stu Neilson, Karen Boeri, Scott McGrath, George Kashian, Bob Martin and Rick Fudge.

File of Life

We are starting the renewals for the File of Life packets. Our first presentation will be at Deming Way - Wilmington Housing Authority on Tuesday, April 17, 2012 at 1:00 PM. We will then host again at the Buzzell Senior Center on Thursday, April 26, 2012 at 1:00 PM.

What is the File of Life? The File of Life is an informational packet that citizens can keep in their home or with them when they go out. The packet is highly visible to first responders (Fire, Police, and EMS), and contains the person's medical information in the event of an emergency.

Why Should I have one? Keeping a File of Life with you enables emergency medical personnel to better understand your medical history, hence providing you a better level of care. Sometimes medical emergencies can be frightening and you may forget to tell an EMT something pertinent to your medical history. At other times you may be unable to speak for yourself. The File of Life can almost assure that medical personnel will have the information they need to better assist you and therefore enable doctors to better treat you.

Post the red File of Life decal on your door so that emergency medical personnel can identify that you have a File of Life in your home. The smaller version of the file is for your wallet or pocket book, and the larger magnetic version is for the front of your refrigerator or similar appliance.

The File of Life packets are free; they were paid for by a grant from the Massachusetts Executive Office of Elder Affairs. This program is a partnership between The Wilmington Dept. of Elderly Services, Wilmington Fire Department, and the Wilmington Police Department.

It would also be greatly appreciated if you could make a copy of the first page for the Housing Office and the Department of Elderly Services. This will help in providing you the best of care if anything should happen at in your home or surrounding area and if you should be at the Buzzell Senior Center.

Social Security Income (SSI) State Supplement Program

ATTENTION: Changes to SSI State Supplement Program (SSP) as of April 1st

SSI (Supplemental Security Income) is a federal program of the Social Security Administration that provides monthly payments to certain individuals 65 or older, blind or disabled. Massachusetts provides additional money to SSP recipients who live in this state. Until now, the federal government has been directly depositing both payments to peoples' bank accounts or by mailing them checks.

As of April 1st, there will be a new system for receiving SSI payments. If you currently receive one (combined) check from Social Security you will receive a check from Social Security and from the Commonwealth of Massachusetts. If you normally have the check deposited in the bank for you, you will see two deposits that will add up to the same amount. The Massachusetts deposit appears as "SSI SUPP". This change allows the state to save money by administering its own payment system.

In sum, your SSI payment will be the same but you will receive payments from the federal government and from Massachusetts. The conversion will occur automatically and your payment totals will not be affected.

If you have any questions about this change, please call the Massachusetts SSP Customer Service Center at 1-877-863-1128.

developments, unless they have 10 percent of their overall housing stock dedicated for low-income or affordable renters and buyers.

During last week's meeting, Wakefield attorney Theodore Regnante, representing the petitioners, stressed that Woburn's hands are essentially tied when it comes to the 168-unit project, as the state — and technically the city — have already approved it.

"There are some folks in the audience and perhaps some members of the board that don't have the full history of this. This is an approved project for 168-units," Regnante said. "No matter what happens, one way or the other, there's a project approval for 168-units."

The changes

According to Andrew Dolben, the senior vice president of the Dolben Company, instead of erecting one huge connecting building that stands 80 feet above the grade of Main Street in some points, new plans call for constructing four smaller structures.

"The project includes four buildings, three stories in height, with walk-out basements on the low side of the hill," he furthered, adding that a smaller clubhouse with a rental office is also planned. "The site coverage is principally the same; however, the buildings are lower and have pitched roofs."

There will be no change in the number of units or the makeup of those dwellings, with 61, one-bedroom and 108, two-bedroom apartments proposed.

The winding nature of the driveway up the hill to the site, which currently in one spot stands at an elevation of 220 feet, will not change, though its layout near the entrance will. In yet another change, the 300 on-site parking spaces will be scattered about the site at-grade, as opposed to being housed underneath the buildings.

In another development, the Dolben Company also has designs to completely reconfigure a secondary fire access road into the site — requiring one nearby home on Driftwood Road to be completely rebuilt.

Traffic

According to Rebecca Brown, a traffic consultant from Lawrence-based firm TEC, though project-related traffic will not change under her projections, there are two specific alterations being proposed to alleviate backups and accidents on Main Street near the site driveway.

First, according to Brown, the petitioner has included a redesign of the right-of-way on Main Street near the site, so a 50-foot long, right-turn only lane can be added for vehicles approaching the development.

By doing so, cars turning right into the driveway can pull off of the main through-way, allowing cars heading straight to continue onward without delay. MassHighway, which owns that portion of the roadway, will need to sanction that alteration.

Secondly, though the Woburn Heights renderings did include separate left-hand and right-hand turning lanes out of the site onto Main Street, that feature has been eliminated to prevent vehicles from inching forward onto Main Street.

"Essentially, that was done as a safety measure, so people in the left-turn lane will not be blocking the vision of [cars in] the right-turn lane," the traffic consultant explained.

Though the ZBA may technically attach conditions or request modifications to those two changes, Regnante has contended that project-associated traffic is otherwise off-limits for discussion, since his client maintains that no additional vehicle trips will be generated — when compared to the original Woburn Heights submission.

To support that contention, Brown argued that traffic projections calculated in a 2002 traffic study commissioned by Santullo are nowhere close to what has actually occurred in the area, despite the addition of several developments.

Referring to studies done in 2006 and 2011 by other developers, the traffic engineer claimed that annual traffic growth in the area has ranged between a decline of .09 percent to a increase 1.8 percent, while the original Santullo traffic study forecasted a total 12 percent jump.

"The area traffic volumes have been growing at a much lesser rate than what was projected in the original traffic study," the TEC engineer claimed.

According to the traffic consultant, the project itself will add 1,142 vehicular trips to the area, resulting in 86 more cars per hour hitting key intersections during the morning commute, and 110 more during the evening commute.

She also contended that major intersections, such as those at Main Street and the site driveway, Main Street and School Street, and Main Street and Alfred Street, will continue to operate at a level of service E or better.

Though that situation is far from desirable — an A is considered the safest and most efficient level for an intersection — Brown claimed the rating is within acceptable industry standards.

Blasting

One of the most controversial aspects of the housing development, revised plans for The Ledges at Woburn call for the blasting, excavation, and removal of over 200,000 cubic yards of fill.

By contrast, when the state ordered the city to grant the comprehensive permit to Santullo for the Woburn Heights project in 2006, the decision specifically referenced a maximum excavation of 125,000 cubic yards of fill.

Despite that change, which virtually no city official or abutter considers insignificant, Regnante intimated that the state's Housing Appeals Court (HAC) might conclude otherwise, since in its ruling it appears to characterize blasting in and of itself as a highly-controlled and amply-regulated construction practice.

"That's what the HAC feels about blasting," said Wakefield lawyer, after reading that section of the decision aloud.

According to Dave Saunders, proprietor of Saunders Drilling and Blasting, he still estimates that 200,000 cubic yards of materials will be blasted out of the Main Street hill over a eight-to-12 month period.

On average, there will be two controlled demolition charges going off per day, with, in a worst-case scenario, between 2,000 to 2,500 pounds of TNT being used in each blast.

Under current plans, the demolition team would begin on the bottom of the hill on Main Street, and then slowly work its way up to the plateau, where blasting near the highest 220-foot elevation portion of the site would commence.

"We want to establish a rock face, so all the succeeding blasts can be directed away from the neighborhood," said Saunders. "All of the neighbors will be notified in advance when the blasting will begin and what the schedule will be."

"Trying to alleviate abutters' concerns about foundation damage, the blasting expert insisted that every charge will be custom set to prevent even 'aesthetical damage' to nearby properties."

Based upon state regulations, demolition teams are required to pre-inspect every home within a 250-foot radius of the blasting zone, but as a precaution, that area will be extended.

Though not mandated,

Saunders also committed to having a third-party and independent contractor conduct those evaluations.

"We'll probably go to 300 feet, because if you do one house and the other is 20 feet away, it doesn't make much sense not to," the consultant commented. "When we blast, people are going to hear it and feel it, but that doesn't necessarily translate into damage."

Once that rock is blasted, Acton-based Onyx Corp. is expected to cart those materials off-site, though it will be crushing and carting away as many as 12 to 15 tons of debris from the 9-acre parcel for an eight to 12 month period.

According to John Durkin, Onyx Corp.'s president, that rock crushing operation will not begin until blasting begins at the top of the hill, where there's a plateau to set up equipment.

"It would be about 10 trucks doing six loads a piece on average," said Durkin, expecting about 60 truck trips to and from the site per day during that phase of the excavation. "There's no way you're not going to know we're there, but we'll do the best we can to make it as light as possible on the neighbors."

Aldermen propose restrictions

Ward 2 Alderman Richard Gately and Ward 6 Alderman Michael Raymond last week submitted to the ZBA a proposed list of conditions to impose on the project to limit health and safety impacts.

The proposal lists 19 proposed restrictions for the comprehensive permit, should it be approved by the ZBA.

At least half-dozen of those conditions relate to blasting at the site.

Lastly, the Aldermen sought to convince the ZBA to ban any stone crushing from taking place on the site.

Hull for Town Manager?

Town Manager.

"When the time comes, we should consider Jeffrey Hull (for Town Manager)," McCoy said. "I like promoting from within and I think there is an asset to that."

He also stated that a nationwide search could cost $30-$40 thousand.

Selectman Michael Newhouse, acting Chairman for all discussions regarding the selection of a new Town Manager, also opposed conducting a search.

"For me to talk about any process that might involve a nationwide search would be disingenuous. I can't imagine that I would select anyone over the Asst. Town Manager who has been that for 20 some odd years and has done a great job," he said.

Newhouse also expressed concern that if passed over for the Town Manager position, Hull may seek employment elsewhere.

"You don't have to look far to realize that people are on the move," Newhouse said. "If I were in Hull's position, and I were passed over for the position of Town Manager, then I would look elsewhere."

Champoux pointed out that if Hull were to leave, the Town would have to spend valuable time and money bringing two new employees up to speed.

Resident Lisa Johnson supported promoting Hull.

"With my experience as a hiring manager, whether it private sector, public sector it is very common to hire from within," Johnson said. "It is a good thing to hire from within and it is more common place to hire from within."

Another resident, Michael Bodnar asked if the Board felt that an outside candidate could bring in a new perspective and fresh point of view. He also asked if the new Town Manager will be hired at Caira's current salary.

"That (salary) is not something that we would discuss openly until we as a board have gone into executive session, discussed it and come to some kind of agreement," Newhouse answered.

Newhouse said the Board plans reach out to Hull to inform him of discussion and confirm his interest in the position.

Other business in the meeting included the approval of a change in the Town employee funded voluntary dental plan. The Board approved a change in service providers from Delta Dental to Blue Cross Dental Blue Select. The change will save employees $30 and $79 per year for the individual rate plan and the family rate plan respectively. Hull said the dental plans are not funded by the Town in any way.

WHS Sub-Varsity Sports Round-Up

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent

The Wilmington High Girls Varsity Basketball team had an outstanding season this year, winning the Middlesex League championship in their first year in the league, and if the performance of the junior varsity team is any indication, the Wildcats look to be in position to compete for more league titles in the years to come.

The junior varsity Wildcats went 16-2 this season, dropping only one league game all season, to Stoneham, and their only other defeat came in a controversial non-league setback to Bishop Fenwick.

Under the direction of long time coach Audrey Cabral-Pini, the Wildcats overcome a lot of adversity in their first year in the Middlesex League, but were undeterred as they had many great victories throughout the season, with perhaps none being bigger than their double overtime one point win over Stoneham in the rematch of the Wildcats lone league loss.

"That was a great team victory for us," Cabral-Pini said. "That was Stoneham's first loss in two years."

It was not one or two single players that led the Wildcats this season, as every member of the roster contributed to the fantastic season and Cabral-Pini said a big key to the team's success was their ability to work so well together as a team.

The Wildcats held their opponents to an average of fewer than 35 points a game, only allowing more than that three times all season. Rarely were their games in doubt in the fourth quarter as the large majority of Wilmington wins came by double digits.

"The key to our season was great defense and awesome transition offense. We capitalized on opponents mistakes," Cabral-Pini said. "The success was due also to great team chemistry. The future looks bright. We have lots of great young talent."

Like all Wilmington High teams this season, the JV Wildcats had to deal with facing a very difficult schedule in the Middlesex League for the first time. But unlike many of their counterparts the Wildcats also had to overcome additional adversity during many of their road games.

Cabral-Pini, who has coached not just basketball for the Wildcats, but has also been the varsity softball coach for many years, has obviously seen a lot of high school athletics and has seen the best and worst that opposing gyms and fields have to offer. Even for a veteran coach like Cabral-Pini, who has also coached varsity basketball and softball at Cambridge Rindge and Latin, this season brought unique set of challenges.

"This year was especially more difficult for the JV team as a result of playing in the Middlesex League," Cabral-Pini said. "It was not due to caliber of play but rather poor playing conditions and atmosphere. There was never a 30 second shot clock at any away games. The girls played tremendous defense and often times had to do it for long periods of time. This was extremely frustrating. We were the only school that incorporated the 30 second shot clock for the JV."

Traveling to road games was also often a challenge for Cabral-Pini and her squad. But all of those challenges simply confirmed for Cabral-Pini what a special group of players she had this season.

"In addition, we had to play at middle school gyms. We would either ride to games with boys JV team or with the girls varsity," Cabral-Pini said. "If it was the latter, they would leave at half time to get to the respective high school. It was frustrating not to be met by any representative of the school, to play in small gyms with virtually no spectators and then have to hope that the bus would be where it was when it dropped us off. Nonetheless, the girls always brought their 'A' game despite these atrocities."

The Wilmington High Junior Varsity Girls Basketball team was led by junior co-captains Jackie Kennedy and Kim Woods. The rest of the team was juniors Lauren Bennett and Casey Herra, sophomores Nicole Potcner, Katherine McKenna, Cassie Grasso, Kimberly Donoghue, Sara Cokash and Kaitlyn Cowden and freshman Kristen Connors.

Freshmen Girls Hoop

The future of the varsity program also looks bright when looking at the success of the Freshmen Girls Basketball team for the Wildcats. The youngest members of the Wilmington High basketball family posted a 12-2 record of their own for the season and like their junior varsity counterparts, they showed great promise for the future.

Coach Dave Sundberg, in his sixth year at the helm of the freshman Wildcats, was pleased with the success of the newcomers to high school basketball this season.

"It was a real good season," Sundberg said. "There was a lot of heart on this team, a lot of drive. And there is a lot of talent as well that will be able to help us in the next few years. The future looks bright for this group. Not only are the good players, but they are a real good group of kids."

And it was certainly a group effort, according to Sundberg, who stressed that it was a team concept that led his team to so many victories.

"The team really is about the team and not stars," Sundberg said. "On this team everyone played in every game and we took pride in that. We did not keep stats or anything like that. It is one of the things that I really believe in as a freshman coach. I think it is important that everyone gets a chance to play and the girls took a lot of pride in that too."

That pride as well as the depth that came from the team concept was a key for the Wildcat in many of their games, including a pair of big comeback wins.

The Wildcats had dropped an early season game at home to Wakefield in a heartbreaker and looked as if they were going to drop the rematch on the road later in the season as well, as they trailed in the second half. But the Wildcats refused to quit and fought back to earn a 46-40 victory.

It was that same resiliency that led the Wildcats to a win over Stoneham late in the season as well. Down by ten at the half, the Wildcats once again showed poise beyond their years in battling back for a 49-43 win.

"This team was all about poise. In several games this year we were behind at half time and came back and won. It was a special thing for a group of young ladies to not give up and continue to play hard tenacious defense that would allow them to come back in those games," Sundberg said "The way girls played hard and came from behind in the Wakefield game showed how much they improved and worked together to get better."

Sundberg, who is originally from Pennsylvania and played football at UNH before graduating in 2006, is also the head coach of the Wildcats junior varsity boys lacrosse team and an assistant coach with the Wilmington High Football team.

He clearly knows what it takes to be part of a successful team, and this group of Wildcats was successful not just for their outstanding record, but for the effort they put in all season long.

"It was a great season in that the kids not only became better basketball players, but they also became even better kids and they had a lot of fun," Sundberg said. "They really stuck together all season long and it was a lot of fun to coach this group."

Boys JV Hoop

The Junior Varsity Boys Basketball team at Wilmington High looks poised to provide some solid reinforcements to the Wildcats varsity squad in the near future. In their first year in the Middlesex League the Wildcats posted an 8-10 overall record, but more importantly they were 5-5 during league play in the Middlesex Small and even posted a 3-3 record against the Middlesex Large.

Perhaps the greatest sign of all for the Wildcats is that they improved as the year went on. After posting a 3-7 record, including four straight losses, over their first ten games, the Wildcats began to turn their season around with a huge win over Arlington on January 27, coming away with a 53-41 win that got them started on a great second half of the season. James O'Reagan had 13 points, nine in the fourth. Ryan Walsh and Connor Bennet each had ten points.

The Wildcats were led by freshman guard James O'Reagan, who had 13 points, including nine in the fourth quarter, while freshman forward Ryan Walsh and freshman center Connor Bennet had ten points each.

Wilmington coach Dennis Ingram, in his tenth season coaching the Wildcats, remembers the game very well for the way it sparked his squad down the stretch.

"It was a Friday night game and we had just lost four in a row," Ingram said. "There was a huge possibility that the season could have gone completely downhill from there, the kids could have packed it in and just tuned me out. But instead, the boys played extremely hard the whole game and ended up winning and then winning five of the next six games." Along with the tough competition in the Middlesex League, the Wildcats, just like the girls squad, had to adjust to the way the junior varsity game is played in their new league.

"There was one huge thing that we had to adjust to in the Middlesex League...believe it or not most schools don't use a shot clock for their JV games," Ingram said. "It can be very frustrating. Everything you do in practice is done around playing hard tough nosed defense for 30 seconds."

Despite having to overcome some obstacles, several future stars emerged for the Wildcats during the course of the season, led by O'Reagan who averaged 10.3 points per game. Sophomore guard Scott Mangelli chipped in with 5.8 ppg, while Bennett had 5.3 ppg and Walsh had 5.0 ppg. Sophomore forward Ryan McEvoy chipped in 4.5 ppg, while fellow sophomore forward Colin Ahern had 4.2 ppg.

Ingram, a Wilmington High graduate who also coaches junior varsity soccer and freshmen baseball for the Wildcats is looking forward to seeing his players continue to improve over the next couple of seasons, whether it be at the varsity or junior varsity level.

One thing he knows for sure is that if they continue to give the same effort they gave to him all season they will definitely make that improvement.

"The most important thing is that they improved every single day, and they ended the year much better than they started the year," Ingram said. "There was a lot of talent on this team. I hope the kids continue to be dedicated and passionate about getting better. It is a huge step from the JV level to the varsity level."

Along with the players already mentioned, the rest of the team includes sophomore guards James Murphy, Chris Saporito, Kody Dunnett, Kyle Souza and Scott Manganeli, sophomore forwards Michelle Goulet, Kevin Keane and Dan Paige, as well as sophomore center Sean Coakley.

Freshmen Boys Hoop

The Freshmen Boys Basketball team at Wilmington High is coming off an outstanding season of their own, having posted an 11-6 record during the season under the direction of coach Patrick Taylor, showing signs of a great future thanks to strong efforts from all 14 members of the team.

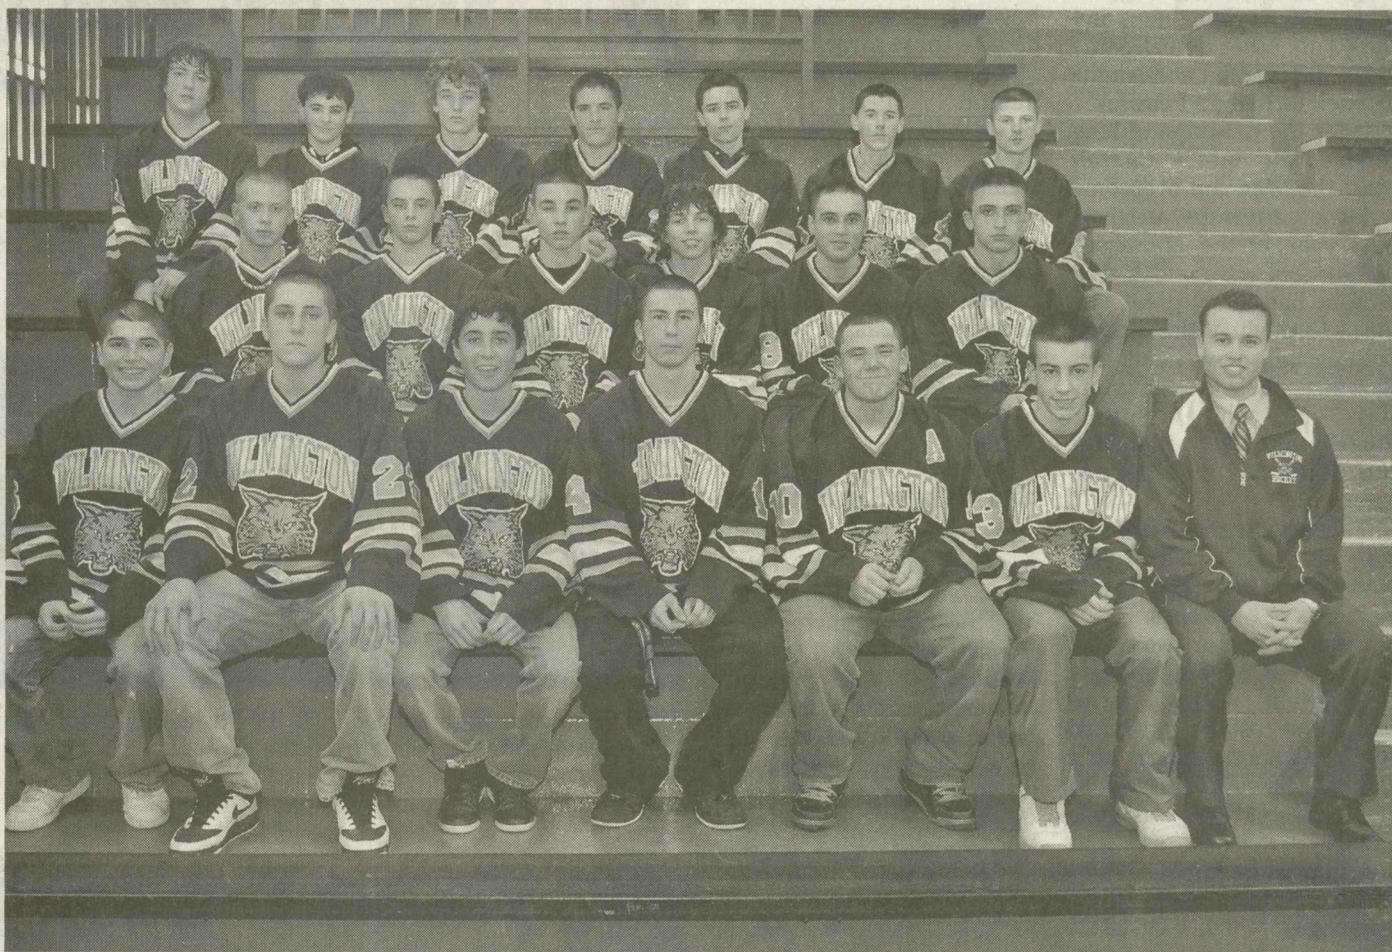

Taylor, a Wilmington High graduate who is in his third year as coach of the Wilmington freshmen and in his fourth year overall with the Wilmington basketball program, knows he had a special group of players to work with this season.

"All 14 members of the team contributed in every game and worked very hard at practice," Taylor said. "It is one of the more talented classes I have seen come through Wilmington High School in some time which will hopefully translate to success for them at the JV and Varsity levels."

That talent and effort was on full display throughout the season for the Wildcats, but none more so than a huge win over a talented Winchester team in a game where the Wildcats rallied from 15 points down to take what turned out to be a lopsided victory.

"The team was down 15 points in the middle of the third quarter," Taylor said. "They showed great resolve and fought their way back into the game not only taking the lead, but by eventually winning by 15. It was very exciting to watch every kid on the team contribute to the comeback and leave everything they had out on the floor."

Taylor, of course knows a thing or two about giving his maximum effort for the Wildcats basketball program, having been a member of the 2002 Wilmington squad that advanced all the way to the Division 3 North finals before taking his talents to Suffolk University where he played three years of college basketball.

Nobody knows what the future holds for members of this year's freshman squad. It is impossible to tell if they too will someday lead the Wildcats on an impressive post season run or go on to a great college career, but one thing is for sure is that if hard work has anything to do with it, this group of Wildcats will go far.

"It is always gratifying as a coach to have kid's show up every day and work hard," Taylor said. "All the credit goes to them for a very successful first year in the Middlesex League."

The members of the Wilmington High Freshmen Boys Basketball team were forwards Zach Abbott, Jake Aoki, Ryan Horgan, Ron Judkins and Nick Raffi, guards Ryan Colangelo, Mike Dovidio, Joey Hydorn, Dylan Masiello, Chris Pennie, Matt Penney and Evan Raffi and centers Devin

Field and Ryan Flood.

JV Wrestling

Unlike other sports, the Junior Varsity Wrestling team does not have a schedule of their own, instead wrestling at the same time as the varsity team, with their matches held either before or after the varsity matches, and some wrestlers competing at the varsity level on some night and at the junior varsity level on other nights.

Many of the names of wrestlers who starred for junior varsity team will already be very familiar to fans of the Wildcats varsity team which went 6-12 this past season with many young and inexperienced wrestlers in their lineup.

Assistant coach Joel McKenna, a 1999 graduate of Wilmington High who wrestled under head coach Mike Pimentel during his time with the Wildcats, saw a lot of things to like about this year's squad and a lot of things that bode well for the future of the wrestling program.

"At both the JV and varsity level we had some great young kids," McKenna said. "Overall most of our young guys got a chance to get some experience at the varsity level and in a sport like wrestling, that is incredibly valuable" At both the JV and Varsity level we had some great young kids."

Two wrestlers who took full advantage of their experience were freshmen Alex Ripianzi and Collin Hoffman at 106 pound, both of whom had great seasons sharing some time at the junior varsity and varsity level. Hoffman, in fact, qualified to be an alternate at the varsity state tournament.

The 113 pound weight class also saw some talented wrestlers splitting time between the varsity and junior varsity level as freshmen Pat McFall and Brendon McCarthy along with sophomore, Matt Diorio saw some action at both levels.

At 120 pounds, sophomore Anthony Vitale had a sensational year at the junior varsity level while also filling in very capably at the varsity level when called upon.

At 126 pounds sophomore Mike Diorio showed a lot of hustle and heart filling in at the varsity level and battling through some injuries while freshmen Jim Lawrenson and Sean Piro had impressive debut seasons at the weight class at the junior varsity level.

Sophomore Dan Lee not only stepped up to the varsity level on occasion, but he did so at higher weight classes than the 132 he was accustomed to at the junior varsity level, while the 145 pound weight class featured freshmen Ben Rohleder and Marlon Felisberto, along with sophomore Jake Pumphet and junior Brian Nazzaro, all of whom alternated between varsity and junior varsity during their first year with the team.

Freshmen Andrew Lesparance and Mike Danciewicz were both scrappy freshman wrestlers at the 160 weight class for the Wildcats, with Lesparance also seeing some quality time at the varsity level.

Sophomore Bobby Brabant had a fine year for the Wildcats at the junior varsity level at 182 pounds, while also seeing some time at the varsity level as he improved each week as the year went on.

Ryan Adams was a first year freshmen wrestler who showed a lot of hustle and determination at the 195 pound weight class while freshman Tom Stein and sophomore Avery Woodbury were two first year wrestlers at the 220 pound weight class, both of whom showed a tremendous amount of heart competing against some much bigger wrestlers. Woodbury also picked up some big wins at the varsity level as well for the Wildcats.

James Hill and sophomore Brian Metcalfe were two young heavy weights for the Wildcats, each of whom showed a lot of character competing at that level. Hill actually did much more than that, placing at the sectional tournament and qualifying for the varsity state tournament.

While the wins may not have been as plentiful as McKenna, Pimentel or the Wilmington wrestlers would have liked this season, McKenna sees better days ahead for this group as long as they continue the commitment they showed this season.

"It takes a lot of hard work, dedication and sacrifice," McKenna said. "All of these young men have a chance at a bright future when it comes to wrestling at the varsity level. If they do the right thing and work to make themselves better then they can be great student athletes."

"They all have great character and a great work ethic and they all had a lot of fun this season."

Lowell Coach one of the best

Maia gets the call to the hall

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

His numbers and accomplishments are off the charts, but for Tewksbury resident Phil Maia, what he has done for thousands of Lowell High student-athletes for almost 30 years is truly astounding. And now he is being recognized for those incredible efforts.

On Sunday, May 20th, Maia will be inducted into the Massachusetts State Track Coaches Hall of Fame, at "The Lantana" restaurant in Randolph. The longtime foreign language teacher and three-sport coach at LHS, will now finally be recognized as one of the best track and cross country coaches this state has ever had.

"I was really caught by surprise when I received a call from Lou Tozzi of the MSTCA (last Wednesday night)," he said "I know I had a lot of help along the way, to get to this point, that's for sure. It's especially an honor to be recognized by your peers. I think (former TMHS coach) Steve Levine made the initial nomination and I think (current LHS assistant track coach) Scott Ouellet and (former Chelmsford High coach) Jack Lang and the rest of the MVC coaches just carried the momentum."

Maia's accomplishments in cross country and track are extremely impressive. A the boys cross country coach dating back to 1986, he has a career record of 208-39-2, including winning ten Merrimack Valley Conference Division 1 titles, while the last two years the Raiders have won the Division 1 Eastern Mass title, while finishing as the runners-up at the Division 1 All-State Meet.

He served as the outdoor track coach from 1984-1997 compiling a record of 43-43 and has served as an assistant coach since the 1998 season. In indoor track, he has a career mark of 78-20-6, including eight MVC Division 1 titles, and finishing in a tie for second place at this past Division 1 State Meet.

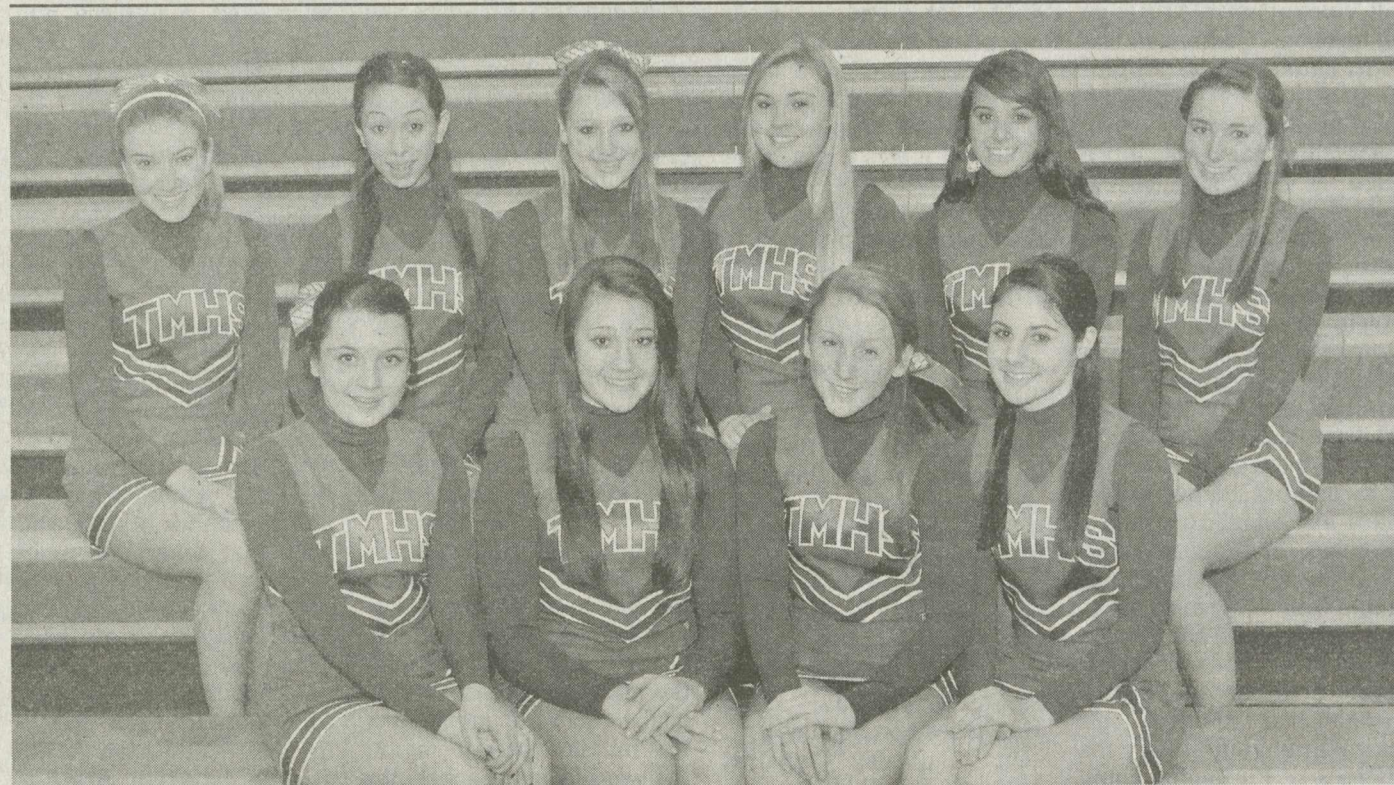

In addition to his combined record of 329-102-8, Maia has coached his cross country and track teams to 12 major meet championship titles. He has been named the Boston Globe Coach of the Year twice, including this past winter season, the Lowell Sun Coach of the Year 12 times, the MVC Coach of the Year three times, as well as the MSTCA Coach of the Year for the 2001-02 season. He is currently in his 37th season of coaching, and his 29th year as a foreign language teacher at LHS.

"It seems that the daily enthusiasm of coaching and running has made my professional career as an educator fly by," he said. "It seems like it was just yesterday when I started here during the 1983-'84 season and I think I have less than five years left. My family has been very supportive too. My wife Trish is a saint and my own children Alyssa and Zachary played many games without their dad in the stands."

But now the three of them will be in the stands watching their husband and father get inducted as one of the state's all-time greatest cross country and track coaches.

Phil Maia, second from left, resides in Tewksbury with his family, from left, his son Zachary, wife Trish and daughter Alyssa. Maia has been the Lowell High Cross Country and Track coach for nearly three decades and he has combined for over 300 wins. He was informed this past week that he will inducted into the Massachusetts State Track Coaches Hall of Fame. (courtesy photo).

Mite 2 Blue team feeling lucky

The Wilmington Mite 2 Blue Team were the champions of the Mite A Hallenborg Tournament in Billerica over St. Patrick's Day weekend. The team swept all four games on their way to the title.

The action started Thursday night with a game against Andover Girls Mite team. Jake Chirichiello started the game in goal for the Wildcats. Wilmington got the scoring started early and didn't really look back in a 6-3 win. Nicholas Ackerman and Jason Davey each had two goals and an assist while Ella Cedrone had a goal and an assist and William O'Shea added a goal. Defense was the story of this one. Phil Murray, Jack Anderson, Brett Ebert, and Brian Dunfey kept the play out the Wilmington end much of the game.

In the second game, Wilmington took on tournament host, Billerica. It was all Wilmington, all the time in this one. Wilmington beat Burlington 8-1. William O'Shea got the victory in goal for the Wildcats.

The third game was a preview of the Championship tilt as the Wildcats battled Burlington with both teams already clinching spots in the title game the next day. Kevin Ackerley started the game in goal. Ackerley would make many big saves in this hard fought game. This would be the best game of the tournament for the fans as both teams battled hard and wanted to send a message for the next game. It was a nice back and forth game with both teams showing the ability to come back. Jason Davey had a hat trick, Ella Cedrone and Mick Keogan had the other goals as Wilmington took the game 5-4. Burlington dominated the first period taking a 2-1 lead into the second.

Wilmington took control in the second with three goals to take a 4-3 lead into the third. Burlington tied the game up with seven minutes remaining before Jason Davey would put the eventual game winner with five minutes left.

The championship game was a re-match from the night before. Jack Anderson jumped all over a loose puck to score 20 seconds into the game. Nicholas Ackerman would add two of his four goals in the first as the Blues would take a 3-1 lead into the second period. The Burlington attack would run into a stellar goaltender in Ella Cedrone. Cedrone stopped many open Burlington scoring chances, even flashing a mean glove. The Blues would add five more goals in the second to only a single Burlington goal. Jason Davey had a hat trick on a single shift, Jack Anderson added his second of the game and Ackerman completed his own hat trick. Wilmington added another in third, and then Burlington would add a couple of late goals but it was too little too late as Wilmington Mite Blues would not be denied the Championship medals.

Blues clinch first

Going into this past weekend, the Mite 2 Blue team needed a single win out of their final two games to clinch first place in the Mite A American East division and secure a first round bye in the playoffs. Despite going 10-1 over their last 11 league games the team knew they had a tough road ahead of them with games against Agawam on Saturday and then Marblehead on Sunday.

On Saturday against Agawam, the Wildcats were fired up to clinch the division crown and put an end to Wakefield's chances to overtake them. However, Agawam must have been watching the standings and came out determined to play spoiler, and battled Wilmington to a 4-4 tie.

Agawam came out of the gates fast and firing, jumping out to a 2-0 lead in the first period. Nerves and an early start may have played a role in the slow start for the highest scoring offense in the division. Goaltender Nicholas Ackerman kept the team in the game with some quality stops in the period.

Wilmington seemed to wake up in the second period and started to show that they wouldn't go away so easily. The Blues struck first in the second cutting the lead to 2-1. Jason Davey took a pass from Anthony Savage and went through the Agawam defense for the goal. Agawam answered a few minutes later to regain the two goal lead back, but it only lasted a minute as William O'Shea set up Jason Davey's second of the game. The second period ended with the Blues behind 3-2.

Ella Cedrone scored a nice, unassisted goal three minutes into the third to tie it up. However, Agawam again scored halfway through the third to regain the lead. Wilmington tied the game a minute after as Jason Davey completed his hat trick with an unassisted goal. Despite a spirited end to the game as both teams tried to score the winning goal, the game would end in a tie and Wilmington would have to try again on Sunday to nail down the division crown.

On Sunday morning the Wildcats would travel to Malden to face Marblehead. Nicholas Ackerman again started the game in goal, coming off a strong finish on Saturday. The Blues knew what was at stake in this game and played a very solid game on both ends of the ice. Wilmington got the scoring started first as Bryan Davey fired on past the Marblehead goalie two minutes into the game. Brett Ebert and William O'Shea helped set up the goal.

The majority of the period was a solid defensive struggle by both teams until a wild final minute. William O'Shea collected a goal for the Wildcats with only a minute left, taking advantage of some nice passing from Mick Keogan and Jason Davey. Sixteen seconds later Marblehead got on the board, finally sneaking one past Ackerman who made some great saves during the first.

Defense and goaltending was the story of the second period for both teams. Wilmington's defensive group of Phil Murray, Jake Chirichiello, Jason Davey, and Mick Keogan not only held the Marblehead in check they made a number of nice plays along the Marblehead blue line to keep the puck in the offensive end. Wilmington finally broke through for two goals near the end of the period to get some breathing room. Anthony Savage and Jack Anderson set up Bryan Davey's second of the game with four minutes left and Jason Davey made a nice rush from his defensive position to get one past the goalie with 34 seconds left. The second period ended with a 4-1 Wilmington lead.

Wilmington scored early in the third for a 5-1 lead. Brian Dunfey collected this goal with some nice assists going to Jake Chirichiello and Bryan Davey.

Marblehead scored three unanswered goals to cut the Wilmington lead to 5-4 with only three minutes remaining. Goaltender Ackerman made some huge, game saving stops before Brian Dunfey and Jack Anderson set up a beautiful empty net goal by Bryan Davey to secure the division clinching victory for Wilmington.

Squirt 2's wrap up regular season

The Wilmington Youth Hockey Association Squirt 2 team finished their regular season Valley League schedule on Sunday, facing Woburn at the O'Brien Arena in Woburn. Alex Fitzler took over in net, with Max Churchill joining Joseph Hansen, Jillian Fisher and Taylor Padulsky on defense. The Wildcats came out strong with clean play in the Woburn zone. Chris Bernazani scored about three minutes into the game, and Justin Crowley added a second goal a few minutes later. After Woburn picked up a goal of their own, Wilmington surged ahead in the final two minutes of the opening period. Cameron Banks scored with an assist from Chris Bernazani, then Bernazani scored with an assist from Zachary Smith. Jared Russell crashed through the slot and ran the score to 5-1, then earned an assist seconds later when Morgan Vigeant scored her first goal of the game.

The second period opened with Woburn taking a penalty and Chris Bernazani scoring on the power play to earn a hat trick. Woburn scratched out a pair of goals and survived consecutive penalties that left them with two players in the box for over a minute. Before the period ended Morgan Vigeant added another goal for the Wildcats, her second of the game. With a big lead heading into the final period, Crowley and Russell moved to the blue line, and defensemen John Spina and Nicholas Farrell made the most of their shift to the forward lines with each chipping in a goal to keep Woburn at bay. A late goal by the Tanners pegged the final score 10-4 for the Wildcats.

With the playoffs ahead

next week, registration is now open for next season. More information at www.wilmingtonyouthhockey.org.

Extra Innings Facility to hold video contest

Extra Innings, the indoor baseball and softball training facility in Tewksbury, is offering local sports enthusiasts a chance to try their hand at creating a commercial video for the company with the launch of a video competition. The contest follows the company's latest ad campaign with Mullen Advertising, who created promotional material for the Extra Innings Mobile Instructor App. Check out 'The Perfect Swing' video here: [http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=AxBQImW31TY].

Extra Innings is encouraging baseball and softball players, parents and other youths in the community to submit videos of themselves or their children playing ball. The videos can be creative, humorous, educational or just downright embarrassing. The winner of the best video will have the opportunity to work with a professional advertising firm to develop the next promotional video for Extra Innings, which is distributed nationally and on all Extra Innings social media accounts such as YouTube, Facebook and Twitter. A gift pack with Extra Innings gear is also included. To enter, players should post their video to the company's corporate Facebook page or they can share the video on Facebook using the Mobile Instructor App from now until May 31. A winner will be announced on June 4. Coinciding with the opening week of major league baseball from April 1-8, the Mobile Instructor App will be available for download at a discounted price of $2.99.

The competition was sparked after the recent launch of the company's Mobile App, the Extra Innings Mobile Instructor, which allows baseball and softball players to improve their technique. Players can record a video of themselves, and coaches can record video of their players swinging or pitching, and then provide their own commentary using a "white board" technique. The Mobile Instructor's state of the art telestrator features a full set of professional tools including scalable shapes, freehand drawing, ball icons, and full screen grid and text notes. This app also provides the capability to save the analyzed video and send it via email, complete with title card and summary screen - with customizable voice over. Players who need professional instruction, however, can submit their recorded video to Extra Innings instructors, most of whom are ex-Major League and Minor League ball players, for professional analysis. Retailing for $4.99, the app also gives access to online ordering at Extra Innings' Pro Shops where baseball and softball equipment and apparel can be purchased directly through the app as well as access to the Extra Innings center finder. Video submissions are sold in bundles of three.

The Extra Innings Franchise Company was started in 2004 to franchise the unique and profitable business model throughout the United States. Based in Middleton, Mass., Extra Innings has nearly 40 locations in 17 states in all regions of the country and projections call for close to 60 locations to be in operation by the end of 2012. For more information, visit <http://www.eifranchise.com>

Tewksbury Mites in action

The Tewksbury Redmen Mites Hockey Team traveled to Kasabuski Rink in Saugus to compete against three of the top Mite AA teams in the area in a Cross-Ice Tournament and left the rink with three outstanding wins against Wakefield, Saugus, and Stoneham.

The Redmen first faced off against a strong skating Wakefield Warrior team and came away with a hard-fought 8-5 win. The Redmen had lost to Wakefield earlier in the year 6-3 but the Redmen showed how much they have improved as they were clearly the stronger team on the ice. The Redmen used their quickness and passing prowess to score early and often. Alex Pescatore, Andrew Grieco, and Jack Griffin combined for the first two goals of the game, giving the Redmen the 2-0 lead.

The Warriors were able to battle back to tie the game 2-2. Brady Chapman, Conor Cremin, and Billy Doherty were able to team up to give the Redmen the lead again at 4-2. Goalie Benny O'Keefe made a handful of spectacular saves keeping the score 4-2 until Jake McDonough, Andrew Della Piana, and Timmy Sweeney all scored for the 7-2 lead. The Warriors were able to cut the lead to 7-5 but Jason Cooke scored to give the Redmen the 8-5 win.

The Redmen next played Saugus and came away with a 7-2 win. Matt Cooke, filling in for a sick Andrew Della Piana and Maci Chapman, got the Redmen on the board quickly with a great move past two Saugus defenders, sliding a quick wrist shot under the sliding goalie for the 1-0 lead. Billy Doherty, Brady Chapman, and Sean Murphy all scored goals to give the Redmen a 4-0 lead. Benny O'Keefe made 2 acrobatic saves on breakaways to keep Saugus off the scoreboard. Jack Griffin and Andrew Grieco added goals to make the score 6-0 before Saugus was able to finally get one past Benny. The Redmen closed out the scoring with Jade Owirka's first goal of the year. Jade took a pass from Billy Doherty and sent a low hard wrist shot into the back of the net for the 7-2 Redmen win.

The Redmen closed out the Cross-Ice Tourney against a big, strong Stoneham team. The Redmen used their speed to stay away from the Stoneham defenders and came away with a 6-3 win. Alex Pescatore got the Redmen on the board with two quick goals on the same shift. Stoneham battled back to tie the game 2-2 but the Redmen kept firing away at the Stoneham goalie and got goals from Timmy Sweeney and Jake McDonough to take a 4-2 lead. Brady Chapman and Conor Cremin closed out the scoring to give the Redmen the 6-3 win and a perfect 3-0 record in the tourney.

Goalie Benny O'Keefe was able to do something not many goalies do, he recorded three assists in the tourney.

Sixth Graders take championship

The Tewksbury Sixth grade hockey team captured the Middle School Hockey Championship after an impressive playoff run. The Redmen entered the playoffs as the No. 7 seed, after an up and down regular season. When the final horn sounded, they were raising the Middle School Championship Cup.

Tewksbury opened the playoffs against Billerica coming away with a 7-0 win. From the opening faceoff they made sure that the game was never in doubt. Offensive contributions from Jack Sutherland, Mitchell Andrea, and Jamesie Cash, helped Tewksbury put seven goals on the board. The defense, led by strong play from Andrew Zampitella and Tommy Craig, gave Billerica few offensive chances. Those shots that Billerica was able to put on net were turned away by Mathew Andrea, who turned in a shutout performance.

Tewksbury 5, Woburn 5 (2-0 shootout)

Tewksbury's next opponent was the number two seed

Woburn. The Redmen found themselves down 3-1 early in the game. After two unanswered goals by Connor Doherty, the Redmen had the game tied up 3-3. Tewksbury took the lead on a goal from Richie Colarusso. The teams then traded goals, leaving the game tied 5-5 going into the last minute. Tewksbury appeared to have the game winning goal with eight seconds left, when they stuffed home a loose puck. Unfortunately the referee waived off the goal because the whistle had blown.

The teams remained tied though the overtime period, setting up a shootout. First up for Tewksbury was Kelly Golini, who got the Redmen off to a good start with a goal. Woburn's first shooter was stopped by a nice pad save. Next up for Tewksbury was Billy Giasullo, who also found the back of the net. Woburn's second shooter had no better luck than their first, getting stoned by Andrea, giving the Redmen the shootout victory.

Tewksbury 5, Melrose 3

Obviously hoping to avoid the drama of their previous game, Tewksbury jumped out to an early lead against Melrose. Johnny Spinelli scored his first goal of the playoffs, to help pace the offensive effort. Tewksbury's defense and goal tending were again strong, making sure the early lead held up. A solid two-way hockey game at both ends of the ice ensured the Redmen a place in the Championship.

Tewksbury 4, Stoneham 3

In the championship game, Tewksbury faced Stoneham. Stoneham jumped out to an early 1-0 lead on a short-handed goal. Tewksbury netted the equalizer on a power play goal by Stephen Johnson later in the first period. Tewksbury's defense frustrated the regular season's highest scoring team throughout the game, lead by the strong physical play of Michael Andrea and Patrick Hunt. The Redmen's defense also made its presence felt in the offensive end, aggressively working to keep the puck in the Stoneham zone. The aggressive play paid dividends when Colby Pierce broke the tie on an impressive one on one effort. Tewksbury increased the lead when Brendan Sjustedt wristed home Tewksbury's second goal of the period. Tewksbury began the third period where they left off, when they scored off a loose puck rebound in front of net.

Stoneham refused to go quietly, finally putting their high powered offense on display. Stoneham scored two quick goals to bring them within one, with about four minutes left in the game.

Tewksbury shifted into defensive mode, making Stoneham work hard just to get into the offensive zone. Stoneham pulled their goalie in the final minute to try and tie the game. The Redmen held off Stoneham's last ditch attack, clearing the puck out to center ice with only two seconds left. As the final horn sounded the Redmen bench emptied and the celebration was one.

Jr. Warriors take home youth hoop title

The Tewksbury Junior League Warriors captured the league championship with an exciting 25-21 victory over the Mavericks played this past weekend.

Trailing early on, the Warriors calmed down they started chipping away and were able to keep the game within reach. It was great hustle by Jack Keneally who had eight steals and Derek Wallace who scored five of his seven points in the first half to keep it close.

The Warriors started to wake up in the second half. Zack Lalonde who handled the ball very well was all over the floor. Nick Stephens scored four points and once again played great defense down low. Both Mike Bankowski and Tyler Strong each had big rebounds late in the game and they both moved well without the ball. Jason Richardson helped move the ball around on offense with some great passing. Alec Strangman who also had some big rebounds just missed a couple of good shots. Nate Wilkinson had his best game of the season, scoring 14 points including ten in the fourth quarter in a back and forth battle to help seal the victory.

Wilmington's Peter Leighton was named Regis College's "Student Athlete of the Week" after his performance for the men's lacrosse team in an 11-10 win over Becker College.

Leighton, a freshman attacker, scored two goals in a 6-3 loss to Anna Maria College in a previous game on Wednesday. He then scored two more goals plus added an assist in the victory against Becker. Leighton's second goal occurred with less than a minute left and was the game-winner.

Leighton currently leads the team in goals (9), assists (5) and points (14). The lacrosse team is back in action Wednesday when it takes on Emmanuel College.

Joseph Pendenza and the UMass Lowell men's hockey team came within one victory of reaching the Frozen Four as they fell to Union 4-2 in the NCAA Tournament East Regional Championship in Bridgeport, Conn. on Saturday.

On Friday, UMass Lowell won its third tournament game ever against Miami University. This year's tournament appearance was the first for UML since 1996.

Pendenza, a sophomore forward from Wilmington, finished the year fifth on his team in points with 29. He scored 10 goals and dished out 19 assists.

Evan White made it two for two last weekend as the UMass Lowell junior qualified for the NCAA Championships in the 400 meters at the Northeastern University Husky Spring Open in Dedham.

White, a junior from Tewksbury, won the 400 meter dash with a time of 47.77 seconds, which is the fifth fastest in Division II this year. Last week he ran the fastest 200 meter time in Division II (21.23) and qualified for the NCAA Championships at the Coastal Carolina University Shamrock Invitational.

Fellow Tewksbury native Richard Kirby competed for the River Hawks in Dedham as well. He ran the third leg for the "B" 4x400 meter relay team in a split of 51.57. The team finished fifth overall.

On the women's side, Tewksbury's Karie Judge, a sophomore, placed seventh for UMass Lowell in the 1,500 meter run with a time of 4:54.71.

Leanne Tucker pulled double duty for the Villanova University women's outdoor track team as the Tewksbury freshman competed in both the 800 meters and the 1500 meters at the Big Five Invite in Philadelphia.

Tucker finished in eighth place in the 800 with a time of 2:16.47. She followed that up with an 11th place finish in the 1,500 meters after running a time of 4:42.04.

Pat Devlin has battled injuries throughout his collegiate career, but the UMass Lowell redshirt junior looks to be showing the promise he exhibited his freshman year.

The Tewksbury High graduate, an outfielder on the baseball team, went 4-for-6 at the plate in a 5-4 loss to Le Moyne on Sunday. Devlin hit two doubles and added a run and a RBI in the loss.

Devlin has started four games for the River Hawks this year, batting .294 with three runs and four RBI.

Mike DePonte belted a grand slam in the second game of a doubleheader to help lead the Bryant University baseball team to an 8-3 win over the University of Maine on Saturday.

DePonte, a senior catcher from Tewksbury, launched a third-inning pitch over the right field wall for his fourth home run of the season and his first career grand slam. He is second on the team in homers and sports a robust .319 average, 429 on-base percentage and a .536 slugging percentage. He has scored 14 runs and knocked in 19 RBI as well.

Tewksbury's Lauren DiCredico hit a RBI single as the Salem State softball team defeated Brandeis University 5-4 on Saturday afternoon.

The sophomore outfielder has appeared in 13 games this year for the Vikings, chipping in with nine hits, four runs and six RBI. She has also saved one game on the mound and boasts a perfect 0.00 ERA.

The Vikings are coached by Wilmington High School Hall of Fame member Leanne Harris.

Freshman Ally Greene went 2-for-4 with a RBI for the UMass Lowell softball team in its 8-4 win over Saint Anselm on Saturday.

Greene, an outfielder from Tewksbury, had a RBI single in the sixth inning. She has started 18 games this year and is batting .345, good enough for fourth on the team. She has eight runs and five RBI.

UMass Lowell will look to improve on its 13-7 record in Wednesday's home opener against Bentley University.

Tewksbury's Joe Hulme was named the Commonwealth Coast Conference Rookie of the Week after he went a combined 6-for-12 for the Wentworth baseball team in the Leopards four wins against Eastern Nazarene and Roger Williams on Friday and Saturday.

Hulme, a freshman third baseman, had six RBI and four runs in the four victories. He is batting .333 with six RBI and eight runs through 15 games this season. He also has two stolen bases.

Wilmington's Jimmy DiNuccio kicked off the spring track season on the right foot as the Fitchburg State junior finished third in the high jump at the Husky Spring Invitational on Saturday.

DiNuccio earned a distance of 6.38 meters after his jump. He will be back in action this weekend as Fitchburg State competes in the Worcester State meet.

Tewksbury's Lisa Policelli went 2-for-3 with a run to help the Westfield State softball team earn a 10-2 victory over Elms College on Thursday.

The senior left fielder has seen action in four games this season. She has a perfect fielding percentage of 1.000 in those four games, all of which have been starts. Fellow Tewksbury resident Katie Moore, a sophomore second baseman, has seen action in seven games.

Tewksbury's Michelle Tully scored two goals for the Worcester State women's lacrosse team in a 10-9 defeat to Husson University last Sunday.

In her next game, the freshman attacker scored another two goals and dished out an assist in a 17-9 loss to St. Joseph's - Long Island. She has four goals and an assist through three games this year.

Two local runners competed in the "32nd Annual Irish Feet are Running 5 Miler" in Lowell on Sunday. Tom Cassidy of Tewksbury finished in 13th place with a time of 33:40. Wilmington's Robin Kanter placed 131st at 58:14.

Three locals also competed in a road race on Sunday as they took part in the "An Ras Mor 5K" in Cambridge. Ken Warren of Wilmington finished in 47th place with a time of 18:35. Fellow Wilmington resident Lori Fitzgerald placed 452nd at 27:17. Tewksbury's Linda Jennings finished in 114th place with a time of 20:48.

Wilmington's John Corvin was the lone local runner in the "17th Annual Eastern States 20 Miler," which was held Sunday in Salisbury. He finished in 113th place with a time of 2:38:09.

A fellow Wilmington resident also competed in a Salisbury road race on Sunday. John Skinner finished in 103rd place in the "13th Run to the Border 1/2 Marathon" with a time of 1:57:37.

Three Wilmington natives competed in the "Red Coats Run 5K" on Sunday in Lexington. Anthony Federico placed 12th with a time of 19:22. Keith Kun's time of 22:31 was good enough for 38th place. Elizabeth Kun ran a time of 28:10 and placed 102nd.

Lucky 9 for Mite 2 White team

It was a positive season finale as the Wilmington Mite 2 White Wildcats faced off against Acton/Boxboro in the last two games of the season. The first game at the Janas Arena was a 9-4 victory for the Wildcats and their highest scoring game all season. The second game at Breakaway Ice center was an exciting back and forth struggle that ended in a tie.

In game one, late Saturday morning in Lowell, Goalie Chase Perault was peppered in the first. He was able to deflect and cover most of the shots on goal; one puck ricocheting loudly off his stick. The forwards Ryan Dusablon, Cameron Gagnon and Patrick Callahan continued to win puck battles and keep the puck in the offensive zone. There was a lot of strong defense play by Liam Crowley, Tristan DiMeco, Aydan Churchill and Keegan Gray to keep control of the puck. Eight minutes into the first James Fisher, assisted by Michael Daniels, brought the puck up ice, dodged a few players and netted the puck to put the Wildcats on the scoreboard first. Acton/Boxboro tied it up with only 14 seconds left in the period.

The second period was action packed. The goal scoring started a little over a minute in as Joey Cornish, assisted by Nate Packer and Fisher, netted goal number two for the Wildcats. Thirty seconds later Acton/Boxboro tied it up again. Three minutes later Fisher passed to Daniels who fired in the tie breaking goal. Packer assisted Cornish twice in a row to shoot in two goals only 12 seconds apart, earning Cornish a hatrick! Joey Pastore also assisted in the hatrick goal by Cornish. Then less than two minutes left in the period, Daniels shot in goal six for the Wildcats with assistance from Fisher and Packer. Acton /Boxboro put in their third with only three seconds left on the clock, ending the second 6-3.

A couple minutes into the third period hungry forward Daniels was fed the puck by defenseman Gray to put in goal seven. Daniels also earned a hatrick! This was followed a minute and a half later by defenseman Crowley feeding the puck to Packer to put in goal eight. Acton/Boxboro put in their fourth goal a minute later. The Wildcats topped it off with another goal by Gray, who was fed by Daniels. Goalie Perault stopped another breakaway shot, and a few more high-flying pucks, catching one swiftly in his glove to keep the score 9-4.

Early Sunday morning in Tewksbury, the two teams met again for their second game, the final game of the season. Both teams came out strong and neither team scored in the first.

Acton/Boxboro was quick to score in the first 30 seconds of the second period. Five minutes into the period, Perault and Packer assisted Cornish to put in the tying goal. A minute later defenseman DiMeco fed Cornish the puck to take the lead. A minute later Acton/Boxboro tied it up again. The Wildcats center Pastore won the faceoff and fed the puck to Daniels who passed it up to Callahan to put in the next tie breaking goal! Goalie Crowley stopped some more scoring attempts until they were able to tie it up again 3-3 with less than three minutes left in the period. A little over a minute later, Gagnon won a puck battle in their zone and fired it over to the net to put in the tie breaking goal, ending the second 4-3.

Third period featured many scoring attempts by the Wildcats, Pastore, Fisher, Packer, and Perault. Goalie Crowley was also peppered with shots which he skillfully deflected away and covered. Defenseman DiMeco was outstanding policing the blue line and keeping the puck in the offensive zone. The Wildcats got a penalty with only 30 seconds left on the clock. Acton/Boxboro pulled the goalie and had the sixth man as they came in and scored with only 8.8 seconds left on

City earns shared grant 'CitiStat' program coming to Woburn

By GORDON VINCENT

Near the end of the millennium, the city of Baltimore was converting from a stop on the way to Washington D.C. to a destination city.

Baltimore's attractive Inner Harbor had become a genuine tourist stop in the mode of Boston's Faneuil Hall Marketplace and San Francisco's waterfront district. Opened in 1992, Oriole Park at Camden Yards was the first, and is still possibly the best, of Major League Baseball's "retro-classic" stadiums, and became a must-see destination for baseball fans. The NFL's Ravens, who moved from Cleveland to an enormous downtown facility (now known as M&T Bank Stadium) in 1996, were assembling a team that would eventually win Super Bowl XXXV.

But with all the growth and notoriety came issues. The city was having trouble delivering and keeping up with municipal services. So, in 1999, Baltimore Mayor Martin O'Malley implemented a data-tracking and management tool called CitiStat. Inspired by a program called CompStat conceived by the New York City Police Dept. to track crime trends through the use of statistical data, CitiStat allows leaders of municipal government to manage programs and services by gathering information on an array of performance indicators about everything from violent crime to pothole repair.

CitiStat also allows administrative personnel to track sick leave and overtime, and helps them eliminate chronic absenteeism. By far, municipal government devotes most of its resources to paying employees, and abuse of sick leave is a costly line item, not only because the sick employee must be paid, but also because a replacement must be paid overtime in most instances.

In CitiStat's first year, the city of Baltimore saved $13.2 million, including $6 million in overtime pay, according to the Center for American Progress, and reportedly saved the city $350 million during O'Malley's 10 years in office. In 2004, the CitiStat accountability tool won Harvard University's Innovations in American Government award.

In the early stages after its inception, CitiStat was adopted by a number of cities, including Buffalo, N.Y., Warren, Mich., Edinburgh, Scotland, Washington D.C., and, as of 2008, Springfield, Mass. In its first year, overtime was reduced by about 100 hours a week in Springfield.

CitiStat also has the benefit of transparency, allowing anyone to track municipal finances, and allowing the municipalities themselves to publish balance sheets, year-to-date spending, forecasts, grant summaries, and most importantly, periodic performance reports.

Springfield has since spun off CitiStat to a program called "NeighborhoodStat," which brings together neighborhood organizations at monthly meetings to share data and information on quality of life issues, and to get street-level feedback.

Massachusetts Gov. Deval Patrick became a proponent of CitiStat, according to Woburn Mayor Scott Galvin, and this year made $4 million in grant money available through his Executive Office of Administration and Finance (EOA&F).

Woburn partnered with four other communities and last week learned they will receive a $373,000 "community innovation grant" for the implementation of CitiStat. The other four communities are Lowell, Amesbury, Worcester and Somerville.

Purchasing Director Sarah Stanton and Asst. Auditor Charles Doherty were key figures in the city's selection for the grant, according to the mayor. The EOA&F received more than 100 proposals, and Woburn and its partners received one of only 28 grants to initiate CitiStat.

"We're in the nascent stage," said Galvin. "It's an attractive program that, hopefully, will allow us to deliver city services in a more efficient and effective manner."

The mayor notified the Woburn City Council of the receipt of the grant last week, and the aldermen reacted in an overwhelmingly favorable fashion.

"I would die for a system that is electronic ... (to) track my constituents' concerns," said Ward 7 Alderman Raymond Drapeau. "I'm really excited to get this money to implement this system."

Both Ward 1 Alderman Rosa DiTucci and Galvin acknowledged that Somerville has already incorporated some of

Movie Reviews by Paul Feely

"THE HUNGER GAMES" MOVING

"THE HUNGER GAMES" IS THE long-awaited movie based on the successful book series. The heroin is Jennifer Lawrence as Katniss Everdeen, a confident and strong young girl who volunteers to take her sister's place. The movie portrays violence without celebrating it.

"THE HUNGER GAMES" GRADE: ***

The very successful book series comes to life on the big screen, much to the delight of the millions of 'The Hunger Games' fans everywhere.

For those unfamiliar with the books, here is the official plot synopsis:

Every year in the ruins of what was once North America, the evil Capitol of the nation of Panem forces each of its twelve districts to send a teenage boy and girl to compete in the Hunger Games. A twisted punishment for a past uprising and an ongoing government intimidation tactic, The Hunger Games are a nationally televised event in which "Tributes" must fight with one another until one survivor remains.

You can't help but compare "The Hunger Games" to the "Twilight" series. Both are based on a series of young adult novels adored in a cult-like fashion by teenage girls. Both feature teen angst, young love and heroines who are more than capable of getting themselves out of trouble.

Our heroine is Katniss Everdeen (a brilliant performance by Academy Award nominee Jennifer Lawrence), a confident and strong young woman who lives a tough life in one of 12 districts under the tyrannical rule of The Capitol.

As punishment for an unsuccessful rebellion each of the districts must send a teenaged boy and girl to The Capitol every year to compete in The Hunger Games, where all 24 children are forced to battle to the death with the single winner crowned with riches and fame.

When Katniss' younger sister Primrose (Willow Shields) is selected for the games, Katniss volunteers to go in her place and she is taken to The Capitol with the other contestant from her district, the meek Peta (Josh Hutcherson).

There the duo are prepped for the competition by a combat mentor named Haymitch Abernathy (Woody Harrelson), a publicist named Effie Trinket (Elizabeth Banks) and a fashion consultant named Cinna (Lenny Kravitz).

Katniss and Peta are paraded around the The Capitol with the other tributes and are given the celebrity treatment.

Moviegoers who haven't read the book may be surprised how long it takes to get to the games. Gary Ross' film spends time setting up both Katniss' world and the futuristic Capitol.

This material could be many different ways, but Ross takes it seriously. His "Games" has plenty of action but it is mournful, much less interested in the violence that the kids inflict on each other than in the way it makes them feel - which, in the case of Katniss, is heartsick.

"Hunger Games" pulls off the rare trick of portraying violence without celebrating it.

"PROJECT X" GRADE: **

Project X is funny movie about reckless adolescence and the quest every high school kid embarks upon to be popular and cool and loved by all. This is a cinematic mash-up of almost every type of teen film that has come before it, from Porkys to every single John Hughes film, turned up to a deafening volume.

There isn't a single thing in Project X that you haven't seen before - it's just never been done quite like this.

Using the found-footage genre once again, the movie looks at Pasadena teen Thomas (Thomas Mann). His parents' anniversary happens to fall on the same day as his 17th birthday, so his parents are out of town. That means pal Costa (Oliver Cooper) and JB (Jonathan Daniel Brown) push him into throwing an enormous party.

The bash grows, thanks to Costa's marketing on Craigslist, and some media coverage, and eventually tops out at 1,500 people. There are naked girls in the pool, drugs galore, alcohol everywhere and a dwarf in the oven.

The whole thing is chaotic and crazy, but it's also fairly predictable. As soon as the director points out that Thomas' dad loves his Mercedes, you know the car will not emerge unscathed, a la Ferris Bueller.

There are some amusing bits - the sight of a little pooch becoming airborne when he's attached to some balloons makes for a great visual, as does the idea of two 12-year-olds working security at the party.

The damage is far worse than you could have possibly imagined. All of Project X is like that. There have been countless movies where teenagers talk about sex in blunt and vulgar ways, but the scene in which baby-faced JB uses his hands to give his friends some tips to help them with the ladies still gets stunned laughs out of you, because it is so astonishingly dirty - and the kid knows what he's talking about.

Project X is a comedy about kids weaned on the Internet and video games and cable: They know too many things they probably shouldn't know, but they can still tell right from wrong. The characters do bad, bad things, but they're not rotten.

Under its raunchy exterior, this is just another teen comedy, and a funny one.

"WANDERLUST" GRADE: ***

This isn't a perfect comedy by any stretch, but it is a funny escape from the winter doldrums.

George (Paul Rudd) and Linda (Jennifer Aniston) are an overextended, stressed out Manhattan couple. After George is downsized out of his job, they find themselves with only one option: to move in with George's awful brother in Atlanta. On the way there, George and Linda stumble upon Elysium, an idyllic community populated by colorful characters who embrace a different way of looking at things - Money? It can't buy happiness. Careers? Who needs them? Clothes? Only if you want them. Is Elysium the fresh start George and Linda need?

Elysium Bed and Breakfast is led by the charismatic Seth (Justin Theroux) and they become enamored enough with their lifestyle to stay, even though that creates new problems in their marriage.

Rudd and Aniston are terrific together, very believable as a couple both in the romantic moments and when things start go sour in their relationship, an inevitability once they discover Elysium's free love policies and both are pursued by attractive potential mates.

As actors, they really bring out the better (not the best) in each other, which keeps the movie grounded despite some of the sillier stuff going on around them, and it never veers too far into the realm of zaniness because of this.

They are surrounded by a good cast, including the always-great Alan Alda in a role that doesn't take him too far out of his comfort zone. The same can't be said about Theroux's performance as Seth, which allows him to experiment with some of the film's more outlandish visual and physical humor.

Unlike their last film, "Role Models," the producers of "Wanderlust" really take advantage of the R-rating, delving further into raunchy territory producer Judd Apatow has made possible with his earlier hits. Director David Wain proves to be a master of the montage, with sequences that take jokes to the highest possible laughs - again, Rudd and Aniston being game for anything is obvious from these sequences including one showing their initial drive down to Georgia.

DEP answer on proposed turf field by April 20

WILMINGTON - The Town of Wilmington and the turf field appellants can expect an answer from the Massachusetts Department of Environmental Protection (DEP) regarding the recent appeals by April 20.

The DEP completed a walkthrough of the proposed turf field site on Friday, March 16 accompanied by the Wilmington Conservation Commission, the appellants and the hired designers, engineers, project manager and builder. The walkthrough is part of the prescreening process, which according to the DEP website can take no longer than 90 days. If the appeal remains unresolved after that time frame, it will be transferred to the Division of Administrative Law Appeals (DALA) for further proceedings.

"I will hold off on any opinions at this point, best to wait for DEP's decision," Suzanne Sullivan, previous member of the Wilmington Board of Selectmen and turf field appellant, said of the walkthrough.

Sullivan and a group of 9 other residents filed the appeal with the on February 29, 2012.

The appeal claims the new turf field would not improve existing conditions, a requirement of the Code of Massachusetts Regulations regarding wetlands to redevelop a previously developed riverfront area.

It also states that the Town's claims of area improvement are false, claims a lack of proper documentation from the Town regarding the improvements, and raises concerns that chemicals in the artificial turf could contaminate private drinking water wells, among other complaints.

"It is about meeting the requirements under the Wetland and Rivers Protection Act's regulations, nothing more, nothing less," Sullivan said.

Construction of the field was scheduled to begin this spring and be completed and ready for use in September.

Benton said this appeal will not affect the construction of the new high school project if it follows the time frame and process by which the Massachusetts DEP addresses appeals, but the appellants have the capacity to move the appeals process to the Massachusetts superior court.

The turf field is part of the High School Building Project that was approved by voters in

BLUE'S 'CUE' IN STONEHAM

"On April 1, the Stoneham Town Common will join an elite group of landmarks around the world and show off its support of Autism Awareness in true color," notes the "Stoneham Independent."

"Stoneham's 'Light It Up Blue' autism event kicks off the town's local crusade to bring attention to the puzzle that is autism.

"Autism is a complex neurological disorder characterized by varying degrees of impairment in communication skills, social abilities, and repetitive behaviors. Despite its prevalence - it is the fastest-growing serious developmental disability in the United States, currently affecting 1 in 110 children - there is no medical detection or cure, and autism receives less than 5 percent of the research funding of many less prevalent childhood disease.

"Stoneham is not immune to the statistics. For Myrtle Street resident Pamela Gill, a special education teacher who dedicated her education and career to learning about and working with autistic children, autism hit home.

"Pam had worked for eight summers with an autistic girl on Martha's Vineyard as she worked toward her degree in special education. Her dream job was to become the liaison in a hospital setting for parents whose children received an initial diagnosis of autism.

"Then I lived that."

"Pam and her husband Brian, an elementary school principal, welcomed their first born, son Riley, 12 years ago. Riley has autism..."

"On Sunday, April 1 from 2-5 pm, the town common will light up blue. Lights have been purchased and the gazebo, trees, and lanterns are awaiting adornment for this special cause. A fun afternoon is planned with crafts, snacks, a DJ, raffles and, most importantly, lots of blue lights to illuminate Stoneham's involvement in the cause..."

"Autism is often illustrated as missing piece of a puzzle. On April 1, Stoneham will kick off Autism Awareness month by doing its part in helping find that missing piece."

INTERNATIONAL CRAFTS IN TEWKSBURY

"Girl Scout Troop 63124 was visited by Dr Shaloo Puri. Dr. Puri grew up in India," notes the Tewksbury "Town Crier."

"The Troop asked for her help in preparing them for International Day. The Troop was very excited to learn about India, the country they chose for their project. Dr. Puri showed the girls different crafts that the children of India make and also shared with them her family traditions while growing up in India...Dr Puri answered every question that the girls had for her. The girls learned so much about India and were so impressed with Dr. Puri..."

Athletes & Activities

by Paul Feely

•MIDDLESEX EAST SPORTS WEEKLY TRIVIA:

Who were the three NFL quarterbacks who passed for over 5,000 yards this past season?

Answer appears elsewhere in this column.

The following teen athletes at Austin Preparatory School in Reading received top honors during the Winter Athletic Award Ceremonies:

JOHN HARTY, A SENIOR FROM READING, received the Boys Hockey Award of Excellence. He was also named a Catholic Central League All-Star.

ELIZABETH LOMBARD, A SOPHOMORE FROM WAKEFIELD, received the Indoor Track Most Improved Player Award.

RYAN QUINN, A SENIOR FROM BURLINGTON, received the Boys Hockey Most Valuable Player Award. He was also named a Catholic Central League All-Star.

SCOTT WORTMAN, A JUNIOR FROM WAKEFIELD, received the Boys Skiing Award of Excellence.

JUNIOR EVAN WHITE (TEWKSBURY, MASS.) and FRESHMAN RYAN BENCHEIKH (WOBBURN, MASS.), fresh off earning All-American honors at the NCAA indoor championship last week, provisionally qualified for the NCAA outdoor championship to lead the UMass Lowell men's and women's track and field teams at the Coastal Carolina University Shamrock Invitational.

The season-opening meet drew colleges from all three NCAA divisions from around the country as well as many athletes representing post-graduate track and field clubs. White finished eighth overall and tops among Division II and III sprinters in the 200 meters with a time of 21.23 seconds, currently the fastest Division II time in the country.

Bencheikh placed seventh overall and third among Division II-III athletes in the 400 meter dash in 47.81 seconds, which ranks No. 5 on the Division II provisional list.

Sophomore Keith Lewis (Nashua, N.H.) also enjoyed a stellar outdoor debut as he took eighth overall (fifth) in the 400 meter hurdles in 54.56 seconds and also placed 10th (seventh) in the high jump with a distance of 6 feet, 4.75 inches.

FRESHMAN RICHARD KIRBY (TEWKSBURY, MASS.) took 11th (fourth) in the pole vault, clearing 12' 7.50" while sophomore Devin O'Neill (Braintree, Mass.) placed 17th (third) in the javelin with a distance of 175' 7.0".

Other solid men's efforts on the day included that of sophomore Padraic Donovan (Lowell, Mass.), who took 11th in the 5,000 meters (15:27.75).

Sophomores Elisabeth Monty (Charlton, Mass.) and KARIE JUDGE (TEWKSBURY, MASS.) led UMass Lowell's women's contingent. Monty achieved a personal-best in the 100 meter hurdles with a time of 14.88 seconds, good for 14th overall and first among Division II and II hurdlers.

Sophomore Antoinette Toussaint (Somerville, Mass.) took 17th overall (fourth) in the 100 meter hurdles and also placed 14th (sixth) in the high jump, clearing 5' 1.0"; and 20th (eighth) in the 400 meter dash in 57.65 seconds.

Judge also enjoyed a good start as she ran the 800 meters in 2:17.18, placing 17th (third).

Sophomore Samantha Otten (Ashland, Mass.) placed 14th (sixth) in the javelin throw with a distance of 118' even.

Sophomore Candace Greene (Annapolis, Md.) took 23rd (seventh) in the shot put, throwing 41' 7.25".

UMass Lowell enters the Northeastern Husky Spring Open next Saturday in Dedham, Mass.

Need some help with the trivia question? Hometown hero Tom Brady was one of them.

FRESHMAN PITCHER COURTNEY LANFRANCHI (BURLINGTON, MASS.) earned her third shutout in five appearances as UMass Lowell battled back from a 0-1 loss to win the second game 2-0 in a Northeast-10 Conference softball doubleheader in Clermont, Fla.

With the split, UMass Lowell is 12-6 overall and 2-2 in the Northeast-10 Conference.

Lanfranchi, who improved to 3-3 on the year, posted shutout victories over Millersville (8-0) on Mar. 10 and Molloy (4-0) on Mar. 14. In today's victory, she allowed Franklin Pierce six hits and no walks while striking out five.

UMass Lowell scored one run in each of the second and third innings. The River Hawks opened the scoring when senior RF Caelyn Ford (Dracut, Mass.) doubled to centerfield, took third on a sacrifice bunt by junior 1B Bri Mahoney (Billerica, Mass.) and scored when sophomore 3B Ali Ferraro (Kingston, Mass.) singled.

UMass Lowell doubled its lead in the third when senior SS Meagan Guy (Berlin, Conn.) walked, stole second and reached home on a ground out.

Ferraro batted 3 for 3 to lead UMass Lowell while Ford and Greene each went 1 for 2.

Six players had one hit for Franklin Pierce. Junior pitcher Rachel Allen (0-1) took the loss as she allowed five hits, two walks and two earned runs while striking out one.

In game two, senior LF Rachel Baxter singled with the bases loaded in the fifth inning for a 1-0 lead and freshman P Kaitlyn Johnson made it stand, allowing six hits and two walks while striking out seven.

UMass Lowell threatened in the fourth inning with the bases loaded and none out, but was unable to capitalize. In the sixth inning, Greene and senior pitcher Elyssa Boris (Gardner, Mass.) each singled to open the inning, but Johnson was able to retire the next three batters.

Greene led UMass Lowell, hitting 2 for 3 while Boris went 1 for 2 with a walk. Boris also took the loss as she yielded five hits, a walk and no earned runs while striking out three to slip to 8-3 this season.

Sophomore 3B Megan Bird went 2 for 2 with a run to lead Franklin Pierce while Baxter hit 2 for 3.

FRESHMAN JULIE TRODDEN OF READING helped lead the Keene State College Women's Swimming and Diving team to a second-place finish in the recent 2012 New England Intercollegiate Swimming and Diving Championships at the White River Junction Aquatics Center in Vermont.

Trodden, a freshman, took a second-place finish in the 1650 yard freestyle with a time of 17:53.14. She also took a third in the 1000 yard freestyle with a time of 10:47.63 and third in the 500 freestyle with a time of 5:12.36. Trodden was also a part of the 800 freestyle relay team which took a second place finish and also broke the Keene State College school record.

There were 22 Division II and III teams represented at the NEISDA Championships.

ANSWER TO THIS WEEK'S TRIVIA QUESTION: The three quarterbacks are Drew Brees, Tom Brady and Matthew Stafford.

CitiStat

from S-1

CitiStat's principals, with DiTucci saying the program has been a "great, great help" in that city.

"It expands public works to everybody and anybody driving around," said DiTucci.

For instance, she said, if a member of the police department comes across a pothole, the officer can advise the city's Dept. of Public Works in a formal manner, and the problem can get fixed.

"I'm very happy to hear this (CitiStat) is going to happen," said DiTucci.

Galvin noted the "sole focus" of CitiStat isn't necessarily fixing potholes, but rather developing a data base in which city services are administered. By tracking that data, the city can develop costs of what it takes to fix potholes and set financial objectives.

"A lot of it is about benchmarks and promoting performance management objectives," said the mayor. "Once we develop the benchmarks, we can compare them with our partner communities and develop regional standards. Once that happens, we can streamline the ways we deliver city services and save money for our taxpayers."

The CitiStat model is being incorporated on a broader level. In 2007, O'Malley introduced "StateStat" to Maryland when he was elected governor of that state, and John Podesta, former White House Chief of Staff with the Clinton administration, has suggested a CitiStat-like model might even work for the monolithic federal government.

Middlesex East Real Estate

Shopping for a garden storage shed

Storage space is often a coveted commodity. Apartment dwellers seek out more closet space, homeowners may desire more acreage, and even children may want more space for their toys and belongings. The purchase of a storage shed could alleviate some clutter issues and move items outdoors - creating more space.

Household garages are no longer as popular for storing vehicles. Instead, garages are used to store the extra items that do not fit inside the home. Many people even turn to self-storage units for extra storage space. According to the Self Storage Association, the storage industry earned roughly $20 billion in revenues across North America in 2010. It has also been the fastest-growing segment of the commercial real estate industry for the last 30 years and is considered to be recession-proof.

Garden storage sheds present another place where individuals can keep items out of sight but easily accessible. As garages fill up with belongings quite quickly, many homeowners think about a shed purchase to at least keep outdoor lawn and garden essentials in their own place.

The process of purchasing a shed is not as simple as finding the least or most expensive type on the market. There are other factors that come into play when selecting a shed.

 Appearance and design: Although the function of a shed is to store items out of sight, the shed itself will be in full view in a yard. Therefore, plenty of homeowners prefer something that has just as much aesthetic appeal as it does storage capacity. An unsightly shed can affect the overall appearance of a property, or even hurt the sale price for homeowners thinking about putting the home on the market. It's important to select a shed in a price range that also complements the style of the home so it coordinates with other features. Some people choose to have a custom-built shed that can replicate the architectural style of the home and even features the same siding and finishing materials.

 Size: Sheds come in a variety of sizes, from compact locker-sized sheds to large buildings that may even double as a garden room, pool room or kids' playhouse. Homeowners should keep in mind that the size of the shed may have to meet local municipality rules for additions or structural changes to a property.

Contemporary Keystone has vintage charm

By Associated Designs

The Keystone is much larger than it looks from the front. This two-level contemporary Craftsman bungalow offers nearly 3,000 square feet of living space. Tapered stone veneer twin-column supports, decorative gable accents, and characteristic windows combine to create that nostalgic Craftsman look.

It's designed for construction on a lot that slopes down on the right and to the rear. Approximately a third of the indoor living area is in the daylight basement, which is invisible from the front.

A window-bright vaulted great room sits at the core of the main floor, directly ahead of the wide foyer. Gathering spaces, formal and informal, fill the left wing, while a luxurious owners' suite takes up most of the right wing.

Double doors next to the foyer lead into an expansive room brightened by a bay window. This could be furnished as a parlor, den, home office, or whatever suits. It has a roomy storage closet.

Flames in the see-through fireplace can be enjoyed from the dining room, kitchen, and nook as well as the great room. Kitchen features include: a long, flush eating bar and roomy walk-in pantry, along with generous cupboard and counter space. Windows in front of the sink overlook a covered deck.

The spa tub in the luxurious owners' suite is centrally located, allowing one person to chat with another in the sleeping area or lavatory room while soaking away the day's tensions. Other amenities include: dual vanities, private toilet, and a large walk-in closet.

Two more bedrooms are in the Keystone's basement, along with a generously sized utility room and a spacious family room with another fireplace. Sliding glass doors open onto a covered patio.

Visit AssociatedDesigns.com for more information or to search our home plans. A review plan of the Keystone 30-597, including floor plans, elevations, section, and artist's conception, can be purchased for $25. Our home plan catalog, featuring over 550 home plans, costs $15. Both are available online, by mail or phone. Add $5 s/h. Associated Designs, 1100 Jacobs Dr., Eugene, OR 97402, (800) 634-0123.
